FIVE SLAIN IN ATTACK

Government Troops Seek Assassins Who Are Still At Liberty

By Associated Press
Parral, Chihuahua, Mex.—The body of Francisco Pancho Villa, the most interesting character of contemporary Mexican history, a strange combination of "horse" sense and fiery impulse, lies in the city hall here, where thousands of persons Saturday viewed it.

Always heavily guarded, as part of his military strategy he learned in a hard school of experience, Villa met death Friday on the outskirts of Parral between Long's house and the Guana Junction bridge. Colonel Miguel Trillo, Villa's secretary, and Rosendo Morales, one body guard, and one bystander whose name has not been learned also were killed. One Villa guard was wounded.

SEVEN ATTACKERS
The attacking band totalling seven, the bandit's unlucky number. The assailants were on foot, while Pancho's men were mounted. Leaving Parral on a happy-go-lucky journey to his ranch at Camutillo, Durango, a dozen bullets pierced Pancho's body and four cracked through his head. Six shots found their mark in Trillo. The assassins fled to the river bed and sped off on horses which had been hidden in the river bed near the bridge.

General E. Martinez, commanding a detachment of 100 federal soldiers, captured three of the attacking seven, late Friday, a short distance from here. General Martinez, who hurried here from Chihuahua city for personal investigation, is holding the men, acting under orders from President Obregon. Military detachments have left Jimenez and Valle de Allende to trail the murderers.

ANTICIPATE DISORDERS
Federal troops Saturday had gone to Camutillo in anticipation of possible disorders in the Villa ranch. A few affected Villa's estate, admittedly are mixed and even some suspicion is openly made here that the ranch may revert to the state.

Troops from the command of Jose G. Escobar are bound here from Torreon to help in the pursuit of the assassins who Saturday remain unidentified.

Two theories are advanced by officers here in the investigation. One is that deserters from Villa's guard committed the killings. The other is that of revenge.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mary Lawando Recovers From Memory Lapse

By Associated Press
Wausau, Wis.—Miss Mary Lawando, who is in the county jail awaiting trial on charge of brutally assaulting her stepmother, Mrs. Anna Lawando, on the morning of July 10, is rapidly recovering her health at the county jail where she seems very content. She has practically been made a part of the family of Sheriff Stewart and has become deeply attached to Mrs. Stewart and seems best satisfied when in her presence. The girl, who was greatly tanned and showed the effects of her exposure in the woods during the eight days she eluded the officers, is regaining her natural color and gradually calls to mind things which were forgotten or heretofore were vague. It is the general belief that within a few days she will be able to give a more connected story of her experiences and that when the full story of the case becomes known it will differ considerably from the present version.

Friday Mrs. Lawando accompanied by her husband and daughter Felia, visited Mary at the jail, and the greetings were cordial and friendly. The night before, both Mr. and Mrs. Lawando were bitter against Mary, they having been given distorted and untrue versions of her confession but they have experienced a change of feeling and gave her full forgiveness.

Although the price quoted was not in general effect, the stations of the larger companies held to a figure of 13 cents a gallon Saturday.

JUDGE WARNED TO FREE MEN ON TRIAL

Court Receives Anonymous Letter Of Warning In Case Of Assault Of Women

By Associated Press
Lumberton, N. C.—Judge N. A. Sinclair, presiding at the trial here of three men charged with the flagging of two white women, received an anonymous letter Saturday morning advising him to "use your influence and brain in exonerating these guiltless servants."

The letter bore a postmark indicating that it was mailed here at 5:30 P. M., the same time stamped on an unsigned letter to Stephen McIntire, volunteer assistant to collector T. A. McNear, accusing McIntire of perjury.

The letter to Judge Sinclair read: "You have shown a relentless spirit against these honorable men and we warn you to use your influence and brain in exonerating these guiltless servants."

WOMAN HELD WHILE HUSBAND IS DYING

Albert Lea, Minn.—Physicians attending Louis Kassa, farmer living near Alden, who is in a local hospital suffering with three bullet wounds, announced Saturday that Kassa is "sinking slowly" and is not expected to live.

Mrs. Kassa, who was taken into custody by authorities shortly after the shooting, is being held in the county jail here without charge, pending the outcome of Kassa's condition. She claims that her husband shot himself, but that she attempted to knock the weapon from his hands when the shooting took place Friday.

CONGRESS NOT TO BE CALLED BEFORE WINTER

Harding's Friends Say Special Meeting Would Defeat Own Ends

By Associated Press
On Board U. S. Henderson with President Harding—President Harding, it can be declared positively, has no intention of calling congress into session in advance of its regular meeting in December.

While the chief executive himself had made no direct statement, those among his party on his tour of Alaska who reflect his views say that he has no idea of heeding a demand for an extra session made by Senator Brookhart, Republican, of Iowa.

Mr. Harding, these associates of his say, feels that there is little or no need for any immediate assembling of the federal legislative body and furthermore that the leaders in congress, in common with the public generally are of the opinion that the country is benefitting by the current recess of congress.

So far as needed relief legislation for farmers is involved, those close to the president are unable to agree with Senator Brookhart in that respect. They point out that the president in an address at Hutchinson, Kans., last month, presented a list of measures instituted by the government for the benefit of farmers which he at that time said should, with gradual improvement in business conditions, restore the agricultural industry to normal. Any further legislation at this time, it is held by some of the president's advisers, would do more to hinder that restoration than to help it.

RAILROADS PROPOSE $5 RATE TO HARVEST

Three Carriers Ask Permission To Establish Flat Rates For Harvesters

By Associated Press
St. Paul, Minn.—Permission to institute a flat rate of $5 from St. Paul, Superior, Wisconsin and Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn. to the harvest fields of Minnesota and North Dakota, will be asked of the Interstate Commerce commission by the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railways, it was announced Saturday.

The three railways agreed to ask the commission for the flat rate following a conference here Saturday with E. A. Nestos, governor of North Dakota, J. S. Jones, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, and J. D. Williams, member of the Minnesota Industrial commission.

The application will ask that this rate be granted from Duluth and Superior to all points in Minnesota on July 30, and all from all five points from August 1, to August 15, inclusive, to any point in Minnesota or North Dakota.

MISTAKES ACID FOR HIS MEDICINE

P. H. Kasper Is Recovering At Bear Creek From Accidental Poisoning

P. H. Kasper, Bear Creek cheese-maker who is well known all over this state, is on the way to recovery from a near death by accidental poisoning.

Mr. Kasper had been taking medicine for illness and accidentally got hold of a bottle of sulphuric acid. He took a teaspoonful of the acid and a quantity of it into his mouth before he realized his mistake, and a little of it was swallowed.

Doctors reached his home from Clintonville in record time and by means of a stomach pump relieved him. He appears to be doing nicely.

SERIOUS DISORDERS LEAD TO REPRISALS IN BRESLAU

Berlin—Serious disorders are taking place in Breslau, it was indicated by a semi-official telegram received Saturday saying that the governor of Lower Silesia has issued an order prohibiting severe exceptional conditions in the town and district.

Indoor meetings have been forbidden, the telegram adds, and a day's notice of a proposed meeting must be given to obtain permission to hold it.

Four Left Of 34 At Feast Of Last Man Club

By Associated Press
Stillwater, Minn.—Thirty-four places arranged at one long table about which were 34 chairs, all but four of them draped with black, and with their backs turned in, a display of china, sparkling glassware, and polished silver flanking a decorative centerpiece upon which reposed a bottle of rare old wine—this was the setting in the low ceiling dining room of the Old Sawyer house here Saturday, the scene of the thirty-ninth annual banquet of the "Last Man Club."

Three surviving members of this quaint organization, which for the last thirty-eight years has met on the anniversary of the battle of Bull Run, July 21, in the Sawyer house, sat at that table Saturday. The fourth member, Emil Graff of St. Cloud, Fla., was unable to attend, he wrote his companions, because he must spend the rest of his short span of years in a wheel chair.

The unopened bottle of wine, a gift to the club in 1885, will be drunk by the last survivor in a toast to his departed comrades of company B, Fifth Minnesota infantry.

ASK POLICE BOARD TO PROBE ACCIDENT TO CHIEF'S AUTO

Sherman-pi Man Asks Investigation Into July 17 Accident

The police and fire commission will meet in the city hall Monday evening to consider a request from Thomas H. Warren, 7 Sherman-pi, for an investigation into the accident in which the police automobile figured on Tuesday, July 17, while it was escorting General Henri J. E. Gouraud and his party to the John Tague farm in the town of Center. The police car tipped over into a ditch after striking William Egan, county motorcycle officer.

The complaint to the police and fire commission requests an investigation into the reason for the car's visit in the country, why there was an accident and wants the responsibility fixed.

SUPERIOR CONCLAVE ELECTS SCHNEIDER

Appleton Congressman Attacks Philipp In Address To Labor Delegates

By Associated Press
Superior—Labor delegates to the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor convention were urged at the closing session to use their political power in working for the election of a governor and legislators favorable to the working class.

J. J. Handley, secretary-treasurer of the federation, told the delegates that they represented the largest single organization in the state and that their political power was greater than that of any other group. He said that a senate should be returned next year, favorable to labor's cause. George J. Schneider, congressman from the ninth district, reiterated the sentiment expressed by Mr. Handley. He centered an attack on former Governor E. L. Philipp, now president of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, who, he said, is using his position to build up a political machine.

Henry J. Oniz, of Milwaukee, was elected president of the federation at the closing session Friday afternoon.

Members of the federation executive board, chosen at the late afternoon session, were: James P. Sherman, W. E. Brown, William Coleman and Fred Schaefer.

From the rest of the state—Congressman G. J. Schneider, Appleton; H. C. Croft, Madison; Frank Janda, Oshkosh; W. H. Sommers, Racine; William Giese, Fond du Lac.

WHITFIELD LAWYERS SEEK POSTPONEMENT OF TRIAL

By Associated Press
Cleveland, O.—Postponement of the trial of John Leonard Whitfield on the charge of murdering Patrolman Dennis Griffin, scheduled to start Monday in Judge Frank C. Phillips' criminal court, was asked in a motion filed Saturday by Whitfield's attorneys. Affidavits by the prisoner and Arthur H. Day one of the attorneys, set up the claim that the star witness for the defense, Peter Mian, is missing.

County prosecutor Stanton, who will be in charge of the prosecution, declared he would oppose the motion.

JOHNSON SAYS COUNTRY WILL GO TO PIECES

Senator Elect From Minnesota Places Hopes In Farmer-Labor Party

By Associated Press
Kimball, Minn.—Unless the people get control of the government through the Farmer-Labor party or other similar organizations, this country "will go to pieces," declared Magnus Johnson, United States senator elect from Minnesota in an address here Friday night.

The people, said Mr. Johnson, are dissatisfied with the present administration and if President Harding were to run tomorrow for reelection he would be defeated three to one, according to the senator elect.

He said he would ask for a special session of congress within a month or two to take up special matters relating to farming, to relieve the distress of the tillers of the soil. It was not only Governor Freus who was beaten in Monday's election, he contended, but the Republican party as well.

FARMERS' CREDITS RAISE GRAIN PRICE

Intermediate Loans Permit Storage Of Thousands Of Tons In Kansas

Chicago—The American Farm Bureau federation announced Saturday that information from Kansas City indicated its plan for the storage of 200,000 bushels of wheat on farms and financing it with borrowed money under the new intermediate credit act is already working out. The announcement said that the intermediate credit bank at Wichita, Kan., is already advancing more than $100,000 of 5% per cent money daily for the storage of farm wheat and that President Milas C. Lasater of Wichita bank states applications indicate that his bank will soon be lending a maximum of $2,000,000 a day to growers for storing wheat.

At the same time it is a striking observation of the grain trade that offerings of wheat "to arrive" Kansas City market have recently shown a big slump says the announcement. Experts at the grain ports are being forced to bid a substantial premium in order to command flow enough of south western wheat to satisfy their immediate demands.

Business at the Gulf Friday was noticeably checked on account of the exporters inability to get cash offerings. An advance of one half cent per bushel was registered at Gulf ports Friday.

The American Farm Bureau federation believes that the other eleven intermediate credit banks are preparing vigorously to follow the lead of the Wichita bank and advance immediately all intermediate credit necessary to enable the farmers to withdraw their surplus wheat as the price breaking factor on the present market.

EDWARDS CHEERED AS NEXT PRESIDENT

Editors Acclaim New Jersey Senator As Next National Executive

By Associated Press
Jersey City, N. J.—Senator Edward J. Edwards of New Jersey was cheered by 300 members of the National Editorial association as "the next president of the United States" when he delivered an address Saturday to the editors on tour about New York after concluding the annual convention at Saratoga Springs.

Cries of "Teddy Edwards our next president" lasted several minutes and caused the senator to curtail his speech of welcome.

Sunday the editors will make a pilgrimage to the grave of Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

POPE ORDERS CHURCH USED BY MOVIES RECONSECRATED

By Associated Press
Budapest—The papal nuncio upon instructions from the pope has ordered the famous coronation church of Saint Mathias closed until it has been reconsecrated because it has been desecrated through use as a site for a motion picture.

The famous edifice was utilized in screening a film drama depicting the Turkish invasion of the fifteenth century described in the historical novel of Gusa Gerdani to show the coronation of one of the Hapsburg kings.

3-Inch Nail Removed From Baby's Stomach

An extremely delicate operation was performed in St. Elizabeth hospital Thursday when a wire nail, three inches long, was removed from the stomach of Edward Asenbrenner, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Asenbrenner of Marion. The child had swallowed the nail on Wednesday and was immediately rushed to the hospital. Surgeons watched the progress of the nail and on Thursday they opened the baby's abdomen and removed the nail. Because of the youth of the patient, the operation was of extreme delicacy.

WOMAN FOUND DYING ON ROAD IDENTIFIED

Mouth Shows No Burns Despite Empty Poison Bottle Near Victim

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Identification of the body of a woman who died at a hospital here Friday night as that of Miss J. C. Doyle of LaCrosse was made Saturday from laundry marks found on her clothing.

The woman was found in a dying condition on a road near here, a party filled bottle of poison lying beside her. Coroner Joseph Littenberger announced that a post mortem examination would be made late Saturday in an effort to determine the cause of death.

Hospital physicians said Saturday morning that there is no evidence of burns about the mouth, which should have resulted had her death been due to poison.

The woman was found by two farmers who succeeded in stopping the machine in which they were riding just short of the point where she lay. She was unconscious and died a short time after arriving at the hospital.

Reports to the police are to the effect that an automobile was parked near the spot a short time before the woman was found.

MAUGHAN'S PLANE NEEDS NEW ENGINE

Unsuccessful Army Flier Finds Oil And Water Tanks Badly Sprung

By Associated Press
Rock Springs, Wyo.—Inspection of the army pursuit plane in which Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan twice attempted unsuccessfully to cross the continent by daylight, revealed an oil leak of two gallons per hour, cracked cylinder blocks causing loss of a quart of water per minute, and installation of a new engine has been recommended by Lieutenant Maughan to enable him to fly the plane to Dayton, according to his report to the chief of the army's air service, made public Saturday.

The report was telegraphed to Washington Friday night by Lieutenant Maughan.

TANKER CONFIRMS REPORT OF SLIDE IN PANAMA CANAL

By Associated Press
Los Angeles, Cal.—According to the Los Angeles Examiner, a radio message received here Friday night from tanker Huguenot, at Salina Cruz contained the statement "slide in canal."

This follows rumors that the Panama canal had been closed by a landslide, which were contained in radio messages received here from the tankers Dorothea and Imlay, on the way from Los Angeles harbor to the east coast, asking their agents for advice and instructions.

REPORT DENIED

Panama City, W. I.—A report here of the report circulated in the United States that the Panama had been closed because of a landslide, caused much surprise in the Canal Zone. The Canal was in full operation Saturday as usual.

Members Of English Cabinet Disperse To Country After Delivery

MAINTAIN GREAT SECRECY

Britain Sends Copy Of Proposals To Washington For Information Of U. S.

By Associated Press
London—The British note in reply to the German reparations communication has been delivered to the allied ambassadors and all the members of the British cabinet have dispersed to the country for the week end. It is understood that the French cabinet meets Sunday.

With the British note seeking allied and American views on the reparations issue, diplomatic representatives of the various diplomatic representatives for transmission, there was evident a feeling of relief and satisfaction in Downing street. Embassy staff members were busy coding messages for Washington so that the note might be on the state department's desk early Monday.

By the end of another week the British expect to have answers.

PARIS GETS COPY

Paris—The British note on reparations was received at the foreign office Saturday.

Knowledge of the note's contents is limited to a small group of foreign office officials, each of whom promised Premier Poincare to keep the information to himself, the premier saying that the French government had given its word of honor to observe absolute secrecy until the note's publication. Premier Poincare's address at the moment of his departure for Versailles Saturday will present France's attitude on the reparations issue, but as the speech had been written before the British note arrived, it will be a simple statement of the French position without regard to the questions raised by the British.

Actual negotiations among the allies will begin next week as soon as the French and Belgian premiers have had time to discuss the note with their cabinets. The French cabinet meeting will probably meet Monday or Tuesday and go over the note with Premier Poincare. Afterwards views will be exchanged with Belgium.

WASHINGTON INFORMED

Washington—The British note on reparations sent to allied capitals also was delivered to the Washington government Saturday as a matter of information. State department officials said the text would not be made public nor could the subject be discussed. It was said officials had no opportunity to study the note in detail but it was indicated that when such opportunity had been afforded no announcement could be expected in view of the British government injunction to strict secrecy.

Whether any action will result on the part of the Washington government is a question which can be decided only in the light of developments.

Rum Runners Use Mustard Gas In Escape

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Arrested by a smoke screen containing mustard gas two rum runners in an automobile loaded with liquor made their escape Friday from a pursuing police car after an exciting chase through the streets of Washington.

Detectives Berry and Mansfield of the Washington police prohibition squad and Revenue Agent Fowler arrested a tip from an underground source that a rum running machine was due to arrive in Washington early Friday.

Waiting in ambush, the officers watched the suspected machine pass and then started in pursuit. Heavily sagging springs on the big liquor car verified their suspicions.

The rum runners, even noticed that they were being pursued, and the chase began. Down Third street went the machines, each gradually accelerating. Both shot past Pennsylvania avenue and headed for southwest Washington.

Hitting fifty miles an hour and touching only the high spots of Third street, the liquor car opened up on its pursuers. Thick, black, woolly clouds of smoke with irritant fumes filled the roadway. The smoke trail ran in a serpentine path through southwest Washington to South Capitol at Twisted back to Four and a half at Persiers Blinded, GIVE IT

Fifty miles an hour was slow by then. Sixty was the average and sixtieth was reached. As the liquor car headed north across Pennsylvania avenue and John Marshall place the pursuers lost it.

Berry Mansfield and Fowler struggled into the sixth precinct at 7:30 o'clock with their eyes badly affected by the "mustard" in the smoke screen.

The World Back

what France used to carry as banded debt before the war, so that if all countries owing money to France would show signs of paying, there would not be a serious question at issue today as to France's solvency.

FRANCE ENRICHED
But of the sums owed to France from the allied countries about one billion dollars is Russian debt, and who can say what Soviet Russia will do? Similarly the seventeen billions due from Germany is more than half the German burden and British and American financial experts say Germany cannot pay anything like thirty two billion dollars. While Germany has lost Alsace-Lorraine, Upper Silesia and her colonies, she also has been relieved of a large army and navy expense. The French think, of course, that Germany can swing such a big debt, but if that is true, then France with the acquisition of Alsace-Lorraine, the new colonies, and the mandated regions is potentially much richer than Germany was before the war.

ARGUMENTS APPLY TO FRANCE
In other words, the French arguments for Germany's paying are limited apply equally as well to France. But France would be willing to pay off her debts to America and other countries if she could depend upon getting substantial sums from Germany.

The big point of interest to America, however, is what is France's true capacity if she does not realize from Germany the amounts due her. Supposing the French found it necessary to accept only eight billions from Germany. They would move heaven and earth to get the British to cancel three billions and American billions to do it, but the most that would probably result would be the reduction by the United States of interest charges and the funding of the debt over a longer term of years than granted to the British. Although America is morally bound not to give better terms to any nation than those given to Great Britain, the chances are the British would relieve America of that embarrassment in the hope of satisfying the French.

France has ahead of her another expenditure of three billion dollars for reconstruction which is not covered in the above balance sheet. Perhaps that estimate will ultimately be cut down, or a short time loan floated to meet it, especially if payments begin to be made by the Germans.

Potentially France is able to pay her debts, and indeed, so is Germany. All Europe has the capacity to pay. That's not the problem, but the crux of the matter is, will each nation let the other get strong enough to pay. Strong enough to pay means strong enough to fight. National security is at the bottom of the whole business.

I SPIED TODAY

SCREAMED IN ADVANCE
While coming to work at noon Thursday, I spied a young lady driving a small car on Rankin st., beyond Pacific st., where the road is ordered, and where recent rains have cut quite a rut near the street car tracks. She was driving in the rut, and on perceiving an approaching street car, let out a long blood-curdling scream when she found her car would not promptly climb over the rails in response to her efforts to turn to the right. She stuck gamely to the wheel however, and after a moment Lizzie slid gracefully over the rails or a try at the left side. The motorman slowed down, smiled like a gentleman, and had the right to pat himself on the back for being "on the job" in looking out for the "other fellow."

PITS OUT FIRE IN NIGHT
At 3 o'clock Friday morning I was awakened and got out of bed to look out of the window, when to my great surprise, I saw a fire on the porch of a house which is being rebuilt on Harriet st. I hurried outdoors and attached our hose to the faucet for we live just next door. The fire started in an old couch which had been left on the porch and since the fire had not yet reached the house, it was easily extinguished.

LAY CORNERSTONE OF MASON TEMPLE HERE ON AUGUST 11

Contractors Promise To Have Building Ready For
That Date

Laying of the corner stone of the new Masonic temple at the corner of College-ave and Drexel-st will take place at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, Aug. 11. Word of the contractors has been given that everything will be in readiness for that date and the committee is busy collecting the materials which will be placed in the stone. The stone itself is here.

W. W. Perry of Milwaukee, grand secretary of the lodge will act in the capacity of the grand master, who will be unable to be present. Master Masons from the immediate vicinity have been asked to take part in the service and Knights Templar in uniform will act as a guard to the grand lodge which will convene in Waverly lodge at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The date of the corner stone service was originally set for July 21. Failure of part of the building material to arrive made it necessary to postpone the event two weeks.

POLICEMAN PREVENTED TRAIN-AUTO COLLISION

Joseph Roemer, parcel post carrier at the postoffice, is one of those who will testify to the need of a flagman at the State-st crossing of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. He has Patrolman William W. Lockery of the police force to thank that he and his family were not run down by an automobile Friday evening at that point. Mr. Roemer was blinded by the lights of an approaching car and did not see the beams of the engine's headlights. He heard shouts of the policeman and saw him waving his arms, in time to stop his automobile within only a few feet of the track as the train roared past.

Retailers Must Work Collectively To Meet Modern Conditions

Automobile And Chain Store Are - Incentive To Give Better Service And Work Harder To Develop New Customers

Gloicester, Mass.—Roger W. Babson, who has been visiting his parents here for a few days, issued the following statement as he left the city:

"Every group of people today has its problems. Employers have their difficulties; wage workers have their struggles; and professional men have their temptations. The greatest practical problem, however, is faced by the retailers of our average community. Surely they have problems to confront; in fact, our retailers are up against four fundamental difficulties.

"(1) INCREASED NUMBER OF RETAILERS. Investigation fails to find a single city in the United States where, during the past ten years, the number of retailers has not increased at a greater rate than the population. To put it in another way, the number of retailers is increasing everywhere more rapidly than the population.

"(2) INCREASED COST OF DOING BUSINESS. Retailers are faced today with increased rents, increased wages, increased taxes, and increases in almost every department of their business. Of course, this is largely a natural result of the increase in the number of retailers. For instance, in most cities the retail section is limited to a certain area, and the demand for store space increases, rents increase also.

PARKING IS PROBLEM

"(3) AUTOMOBILE SALES. The automobile is effecting the retailers in our large cities. During the past few years people have been getting out of the habit of using street cars and walking to the retail stores. They have been coming in automobiles instead. But just now as they have formed the automobile habit, the authorities come around and forbid parking in front of the best retail stores. The police authorities cannot be blamed for making these rulings, but the effect on the retail trade in the congested districts is apt to be very harmful. Already the exclusive shops in the center of the city are losing trade, while the suburban shops are gaining trade. Automobiles are also changing the class of goods demanded so that retailers who fail to adjust their business accordingly are falling by the wayside.

"(4) CHAIN STORE COMPETITION. Although the chain store is in its infancy, many lines of trade are already feeling the effect of chain store organizations. It is mostly felt by the grocers, shoe stores, hardware dealers, clothing stores; but other lines are gradually being forced to meet this chain store competition. Considering that it is only in its infancy, the ultimate results may be serious.

"Yet, notwithstanding these four problems facing the retailers, I believe," said Mr. Babson, "that the independent retailer has a splendid opportunity if he will only organize and grasp it. There are many things which these independent retailers should do, but I will mention only four:

JOIN TO BUILD TRADE

"(1) WORK HARDER FOR NEW CUSTOMERS AND CIRCULARIZE COLLECTIVELY FOR NEW TRADE. The better retailers must organize into groups for collective advertising, circularizing, and general educational work. The better retailers can form groups of about 50, of which there need be only one representative of a given line in each group. It will be found that such groups can unite on sales promotion plans for new customers, and the entire 50 can get as good, if not better results, for an amount of money that it would cost one when working independently. The retailers should do more advertising, and cover with their advertising a larger territory than they did before the days of the automobile. Now every small city retailer can consider as a possible customer everyone living within a radius of 40 miles. While each retailer should advertise his own business independently, yet he should be willing to join with the others in constructive and educational advertising.

"(2) GIVE BETTER SERVICE. Retailers must remember that they are the servants of the consumer and are not in business to coerce the consumer. The retailer whose chief interest is in his customer has a good business today and is sure to prosper in the years to come. Retailers need not worry about 'cash and carry' systems or other new fangled schemes provided they will give service. People are willing to pay for service and

LESS BUILDING IN JUNE THAN IN MAY

June building contracts in Wisconsin totalled $9,513,200, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation. This was a decrease of 9 per cent from May, and an increase of 8 per cent over June, 1922.

Last month's record included: $3,632,800, or 33 per cent for public works and utilities; $2,455,400, or 26 per cent for residential buildings; $1,235,000, or 14 per cent, for educational buildings; and $832,000, or 9 per cent, for business buildings.

Construction started during the first six months of 1923 has amounted to $45,423,400, compared with $49,342,800 for the first half of last year, a decrease of 13 per cent.

Retailers who give real service at fair prices enjoy real prosperity.

"(3) ESTABLISH BETTER RELATIONS WITH MANUFACTURERS. One of the greatest advantages which the chain stores have is their intimate relations with the manufacturers from whom they buy their goods. It would be possible for retailers to establish such a relationship if they would only invest their money in the stocks of the companies from which they buy. For instance, if a grocer, instead of buying mince, oil, and other stocks, about which he knows nothing, would invest his savings in the National Biscuit Company, Quaker Oats Company, American Sugar Refinery Company, etc., he would then establish a relationship which would soon be very valuable. One sees very clearly what this would mean if a large group should combine their stock holdings and vote their stock as a group.

"(4) STUDY BUSINESS CONDITIONS. Retailers must give more thought and study to the conditions of the country as a whole. The average retailer must realize that his business depends a great deal upon the business conditions of the entire country, yes, of the entire world. This is necessary in order to know when to buy and when not to buy, when to borrow and when not to borrow, when to advertise and when not to advertise.

"It is true that the retailers of our country are faced with four tremendous problems, but I believe that all of these problems can be met if the better retailers will only organize and fight collectively: first, to get new customers; second, to give better service; third, to establish stronger relations with the companies from which they buy; and fourth, to study business conditions in general. Today business is about normal as indicated by the Babsonchart. What the future is to show will largely be determined by the attitude of the nation's retailers. It is commonly said that the stock market discounts industrial changes. Certainly the retailers discount stock market changes. The retailer is primarily responsible both for the high prices of over-expansion and the buyers' strike with the depressions that follow."

LOOK FORWARD TO BIG ENROLLMENT

Deposits for rooms in the various Lawrence college dormitories seem to indicate that there will be a large enrollment of students here this fall. There are 60 more reservations for dormitory rooms at this time than there were last year at the end of July. The list of prospective students at Lawrence Conservatory of Music seems to indicate that there will be an increased enrollment in the music classes also.

Lawrence will open on Sept. 17 with the usual examinations for freshmen. Registration days are Sept. 18 and 19, with the regular classes beginning on Sept. 20. The school year will be divided into quarters this year with three quarters for the regular term and the fourth quarter as the summer session.

LUMBER BUSINESS IS NORMAL FOR SUMMER MONTHS

Dealers Expect Homebuilding To Continue As Long As Weather Is Good

The improvement in wholesale lumber trade, begun late in June, continues and the more conservative among distributors state that business is fully normal for this time of year, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. These distributors point out that it is only in comparison with the abnormally heavy trade transacted last winter and spring, when conditions were dislocated and unique, that the present movement can be called lethargic, but that it is in reality good, when it is considered that July and August usually are the slowest months in the year. Retailers in most cities continue to sell large quantities of lumber and look forward to increasing business as summer draws to a close. Though big construction jobs probably will in most instances be held over, they expect enough home building, as long as open weather prevails, to keep demand strong. Country dealers regard the fall outlook as promising, for though grain prices have dropped to the lowest levels of recent years, a big harvest seems assured and should bring enough money into farmers' pockets to cover needed building and repair work. Meanwhile, retailers remain cautious in their commitments and, though more of them than recently are buying for stock purposes because they believe prices have declined as far as they are going to or because they fear car shortage later on, the majority will not yet buy beyond current requirements unless they locate absolute bargains.

Industrial demand for softwoods has shown no recent fluctuations, but mills remain busy on special cuttings, which bring good prices. Exports are also holding up well. Hardwood consumers are nearly all becoming more conspicuous on the market, particularly the furniture interests, and exports to the United Kingdom have been stimulated by some ocean freight rate recessions. Prices of either softwoods or hardwoods have shown no material change during the last three weeks, but it is noticeable that some popular items, especially in hardwoods, are again showing an upward tendency.

"It is true that the retailers of our country are faced with four tremendous problems, but I believe that all of these problems can be met if the better retailers will only organize and fight collectively: first, to get new customers; second, to give better service; third, to establish stronger relations with the companies from which they buy; and fourth, to study business conditions in general. TAKE TESTIMONY IN DAMAGE CASES HERE NEXT WEEK

Industrial Commission Sends Representative Here For Three Days

Several hearings of considerable interest to the general public will be held before the Wisconsin Industrial Commission on July 31, Aug. 1 and 2, when testimony is taken on claims for compensation under the workmen's compensation act. One of the claims to be heard is that of Levi Levisow against Rainbow gardens. It is said Levisow was injured in a fight at the gardens some months ago.

Members of the commission who will be here have announced, a willingness to be consulted informally by employers and employees upon matters under the compensation act. No announcement has been made of which member of the commission will preside at the hearings.

Testimony will be taken in the following cases:

July 31
John Imm vs. Interlake Pulp & Paper Co.
Lawrence West vs. Combined Locks Paper Co.
Joseph Gunschereck vs. Combined Locks Paper Co.
Levi Levisow vs. Rainbow garden.
Harry H. Huntley vs. Wisconsin Cabinet & Panel Co.

CHEESE FACTORIES BLAMED FOR ODOR

Improper Care Of Refuse Gives Tourists Noseful As They Pass Through

Cheese factories which do not comply with the suggestions of the state board of health are responsible for the nauseating odor that greets motorists every time they pass spots on certain highways of the county.

The odor comes from the refuse that is discharged from the factories. It usually settles in a low spot near the building and soon develops a stench.

Some factories run the refuse into a river or creek if available. Others run chemicals in with it as it drains off and still others run the refuse underground, or spread deodorants where it accumulates.

Health authorities say there is no need for this health menace to exist if owners of cheese factories take proper care of their refuse. Autoists declared this stench near highways is not a good advertisement for Outagamie county with so many tourists passing through.

THE UNWELCOME PICKNICKERS

The tourist season is now on and recently there have been seen on the streets of Appleton cars bearing license plates of not only near-by states but of those much further away—New York, Pennsylvania, Florida, even Texas, besides the usual throng of people from all parts of Wisconsin. Observant persons have noted in the automobiles returning from the north the large number of shrubs, ferns, perennial blooming plants, and even small evergreen trees, that have been dug up and brought away, the appearance of the cars suggesting that Birmamwood has come to Dunsinane.

The growing untidiness of the roadside, covered with empty bags and old newspapers, bespeak the unwelcome picknicker. Protests are coming from all directions, even Oshkosh complains in point of the litter left by campfires, and the muttering of the farmer is heard who complains of the freedom made with his fruit and vegetables without the expected "If you please" or "Thank you." These all betoken the oncoming tide of motoring guests to whom a cordial invitation and welcome has always been extended.

Some of these people would seem to have forgotten that the acceptance of even public hospitality confers upon the recipient a responsibility toward the proprieties that should mark the relations between host and guest that cannot well be avoided whether he come from other states or from one part of this state to another.

The Maribel Caves and the grounds about have, we are told, been almost denuded of the fame that not so long ago added so much to their attractiveness. The small evergreen trees at the present time seem most to attract the tourist. If these would grow in a new environment the feeling against those who pillage would be less, but nursery men say this is not the season for transplanting them and at any time the roots must not be exposed to the air.

This is a disease just now infecting forest trees in some localities so that the state has issued orders to game wardens to confiscate shrubs and small trees that are being transplanted and send them to Madison for examination. If free from disease they will be returned to the person who had them in his possession. Wisconsin has no law to protect itself from these pillaging guests. A man while motoring in one of the northern state parks recently came upon a spot where a car had been run off the road and had stalled. The driver had cut off five young evergreen trees of a height more than the width of the car, laid them on the ground and backed out over them. These trees must have been growing for fifteen years and were ruthlessly destroyed in a few moments. This is vandalism of the most reprehensible sort. It cannot be condoned. Neither can it be reasonably explained.

From towns in many sections of the United States there come discordant notes indicating that there is growing quite as much eagerness in speeding the parting as in welcoming the coming guest. We do not believe that this state will have to remove the welcome signs at the entrance to her towns and villages. The matters mentioned above are only a phase of motor travel and with the arousing of public opinion will, we hope, soon disappear. If not, Wisconsin's woods are in danger of looking like the Sahara desert.

HIGH TARIFF IN CANADA

The Canadian Manufacturers' association has opened a campaign for a protective tariff, especially against goods from the United States. It claims that Canadian foreign sales have not increased proportionately to imports.

There are four species of tariffs. They are free trade, protection, retaliation and reciprocity. The reciprocal tariff comprises the good features of all the others, and it is the most logical and practical, as it works out adjustments scientifically.

When we think of international trade, we must consider that it is both buying and selling. No country can just buy or just sell; it must do both. And we should not think of the tariff as a political, but as a business issue. Canada seems to be preparing to adopt the tariff policy of the United States.

THE UNCERTAINTIES OF 1924

When President Harding started on his Alaskan trip it afforded an opportunity for him, without going out of his way, to review the record of his administration and to advertise himself for renomination and reelection. The opportunity was taken advantage of. His speeches as he crossed the continent were upon the live issues of the day. Developments since he reached Alaska seem to indicate that he has lost rather than gained ground in his prospects for a second term.

Henry Ford's favorable showing in the Collier's Weekly voting contest attests his popularity, but does not bring him any nearer as a presidential nominee of either of the two leading parties. President Harding still has the lead for the Republican nomination. Another six months may make it impossible for him to secure the nomination. The political atmosphere is clouding, and it threatens to become more chaotic as the campaign approaches. Mr. Ford is not likely to be the Democrat nominee, but he may run on an independent ticket.

The Republican party is more or less dismembered by bloc contention, and it is likely that the presidential campaign will develop surprises. Senator Brookhart is booming Judge Kenyon for the nomination. Mr. Brookhart is a close friend of Senator LaFollette and his open espousal of Judge Kenyon for the nomination seems to be somewhat inconsistent with Mr. LaFollette's assumed candidacy. There is still another element that is playing up to Hiram Johnston for leadership. The farmer-labor movement may center on either Johnston, Kenyon or LaFollette. It might divide itself among the three.

It is a safe bet that Mr. Harding will not receive the Republican nomination without a fight. If the fight does not succeed within the Republican organization it is likely to be carried outside the organization. Indeed, it may have its origin entirely apart from the organization in the formation of a brand new party. There may be more than one independent candidate. Public opinion is in an uncertain state. At this time no one can make any prediction that is more than a mere guess as to what will happen in 1924.

TODAY'S POEM

By Berton Braley

ON WITH THE DANCE

Some solemn folk chorus, "There's stern work before us.
The world's in a terrible state;
We've no time for laughter, we've got to get after
The business of setting things straight.
Cut out the romancing, the singing and dancing
Which people pursue with such vim;
They're more deleterious; we must be serious—
Serious, dogged and grim!"So, column by column, we're warned to be solemn;
But, though it's a worrisome world
Which isn't behaving and badly needs saving
From dangers in which it is swirled,
Still we and our neighbors can lighten our labors
With song and with jazz now and then;
Conditions are fearful but we can be cheerful
While building things over again.Far better be singing and dancing, than wringing
Our hands in a futile despair.
Our job may appall us but that needn't thrall us
In clouds of perpetual care;
Our tasks on us levy a toll that is heavy
But still to our work we advance;
With vim we go to it and smile while we do it
And pause—now and then—for a dance.

Health Talks

RECOVERY FROM RICKETS

The most definite diagnostic evidence of rickets in an infant or child is the X-ray picture of the bones of the region of the wrist. This shows diminished density of the bone, broadened ends of the long bones, indistinct borders and faintly outlined centers of ossification, as compared with the X-ray picture of the wrist of a normal child of the same age. And one of the best evidences of progress in recovery from rickets under treatment is the improvement discernible in the conditions shown in successive X-ray pictures of the wrist.

Rickets ordinarily runs a course of many months to 18 months; even though the disease process itself is completely cured, the damage it has done may be permanent, say a fixed deformity of the spine or other part of the skeleton. The desirable thing, therefore, is to recognize the disease before it progresses so far, and cure it before such permanent damage occurs. The ideal thing, of course, is to prevent rickets altogether, but that would require universal knowledge of the simplest facts of physiology or hygiene.

Perhaps the most serious effect of rickets, so far as the future health, growth and vigor of the child is concerned is the chest deformity, for restriction of chest capacity retards growth and diminishes vitality and distinctly shortens expectations of life or longevity. The child with such a diminished chest capacity (the narrow chest goes with a lowered or flattened diaphragm, the liver and other abdominal organs being pushed downward and the belly prominent—pot belly) is likely to succumb in early life to pneumonia or tuberculosis.

The most important period for treatment of rickets is from the sixth to the twelfth month; the earlier treatment is begun the better the results.

The disease untreated runs its course in 15 to 20 months, with spontaneous recovery of a kind, but treatment prevents or lessens the amount of permanent damage.

Diet.—Since an insufficient amount of fat and an excessive amount of sugar or starch in the diet is such an important cause of rickets, the first essential in treatment is to stop the use of milk substitutes and large amounts of the farinaceous or grain foods, and to give the infant suitably modified fresh cow's milk if breast feeding is impossible. Fresh fruit juices, fresh vegetable soups, fresh meat broths cooked fruit and vegetable pulp, and fresh eggs well beaten and young infants scraped meat, and thick gruels are necessary additions to the diet. Infants over 10 months of age should have a little butter; cooked lettuce and spinach are especially desirable.

Hygiene.—Provision for open air life and sunshine must be made. The less clothing the infant wears the better. The clothing should be made only to protect against cold or sun, and loose enough to permit free movement. Unrestricted movement (exercise) is one of the essential preventive and curative measures. "Fresh air" institutions for the summer care of infants in crowded cities are doing great service.

Medical Treatment.—Pure cod liver oil most nearly deserves the name of cure for rickets, but the details of its use should be prescribed by the physician. Ordinarily from 20 to 40 drops are given three times a day.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Near The Marshes

Is it unhealthful to live on the border of the salt marshes? Our house is the end of the street, right on the meadows. I love it here, with that wide expanse of earth and sky and the ocean in the distance, but my husband hesitates to buy the place because he thinks one can't be healthy living so near the marshes, and no cellar under the house.

Answer: So far as the dampness, water or low ground may be concerned, it is healthful enough. The lack of a cellar under the house is not a health question either. The only objection to such a situation is the possibility of the breeding of malaria carrying mosquitoes (anopholes) in the marshes. I do not know what the conditions in that respect may be in your vicinity. If you have lived in the house 10 years and enjoyed good health, as you say, I should think friend husband might hang on to that chunk of sky, earth and ocean for you.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Saturday, July 23, 1898

Attorney Garret Thorn of New London was in Appleton on business.

Mrs. William Bridges and son of Milwaukee were guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Reese.

Mrs. J. S. Davis was to occupy the pulpit of the Methodist church the following day in the absence of her husband.

The tug Volunteer towed up the largest load of pulpwood ever brought to Appleton. There were 237 cords in it while an ordinary load consisted of 90 cords.

The ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps sent a well filled box of clothing to the Daughters of the Revolution of Charleston, S. C., who were caring for the sick members of Company G.

Prof. E. H. Reynolds, formerly principal of the Fourth ward school, resigned his position as principal of Shawano high school to take a position on the road and was about to start upon his new duties.

Mayor Schultz of Menasha, prosecutor of Conductor Waites of the interurban for putting him off a car on account of refusal to pay fare, did not appear in court at Menasha the day previous and the case was consequently dismissed.

Mrs. James Murphy entertained a group of friends in honor of Miss Estelle Conlon at Kaukauna.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Fish and Mr. and Mrs. C. Casperson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ralsler at Shawano.

TEN YEARS AGO

Saturday, July 19, 1913

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Kornely were guests of Milwaukee friends.

Judge and Mrs. Thomas H. Ryan left for Sturgeon Bay on a week's vacation trip.

The Christian Endeavor society was to have its annual memorial service at Riverside cemetery the following Sunday.

The Northwestern Railway company announced it had postponed double tracking its line through the Fox river valley, but instead would install a block system from Fond du Lac to Duck Creek.

Miss Mary Louise Fairfield, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. O. P. Fairfield, and Noble C. Smith were married at the Methodist church at noon by the Rev. W. D. Marsh.

Gustave Zuehl, former alderman, was critically ill at his home at 878 Appleton.

Outagami county board of review of income tax assessments was announced at Madison by the state tax commission. It consisted of Otto W. Schaefer and A. H. Krugmeier of Appleton and Charles J. Hagen of Black Creek.

The plant of the Combined Locks Paper company was closed down for an indefinite period, while the work of rebuilding the new concrete dam was in progress.

MIDSUMMER FICTION

Ah, love, you warm gold moon

Doth know the song that now I sing:

His smiling beams on nights of spring

Have woven Love's festoon.

His rounded face knows winter's long delay.

As summer breezes sweep in from the south.

(But move your head a little bit, I pray,

Your hair blows in my mouth.)

Cheer Up, Charlie, You'll Get Your Reward in Heaven

Dear Rollo—Express my thanks to Jasper for calling my attention to the law which he proposes, but sorry I cannot take his tip; the reason I will explain. First, I wish to call the attention to the readers that there are two branches of the legislature, the Honorable Assembly and the so-called senate. I understand Jasper alright when he referred to the legislature as the comic opera company, that he meant the senate (for there he, Jasper) must of spent his time while at Madison.) If the readers don't believe me asked George Kull.

Secondly, tell Jasper I am seriously thinking of running for re-election and far be it that poor me will willfully again try and get another group on my neck. You know I have one now the one that believes in militarism. I shot and still think I was doing a good turn to humanity by doing my bit to discourage militarism which always leads to war by voting for the abolition of the National Guard.

Now Jasper suppose I were successful in having the law you propose passed what chance would I have for re-election (they sure are slim enough now.) And Jasper dear don't you know that women have the right to the ballot and poor me up for re-election. They would say "vote for him!" I should say not! he is the guy that stopped the arm from going to waist; lord knows what pleasure for us he will stop next!"

Yes I realize the danger of other cars on highways and also the chance of going into the ditch and that there may be some one seriously hurt or even killed but I shot of these same chances when I voted for the abolition of the National Guard and you see Jasper what thanks I am getting.

CHARLIE.

General Gouraud and his celebration got us all mixed up this week. We thought yesterday was Saturday and almost took a bath but realized our mistake just in time. These close calls are hard on the nervous system.

The Question Box

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. How often does it happen that there are two full moons in one month? O. O.

A. The Naval Observatory says about once in two years, on the average, it happens that full moon occurs twice in one and the same month. This is true of the other phases, also.

Q. Why are Staked Plains so called? J. S.

A. Various reasons are given for the name. One is that the name is derived from lines of stakes set up to guide travelers. Another is that the stalks of the yucca plant found there resembles stalks.

Q. What country has the smallest stamp in the world? K. S.

A. Bolivia.

Q. What is meant by inborn variability? A. T. O.

Q. It refers to individual peculiarity, fingerprints being an example of this. The skin is marked by numerous ridges and valleys, the same conformation not appearing in any two individuals.

Q. When should pine trees be transplanted? R. V. K.

A. The Forest Service says that the proper time for transplanting pine trees is September.

Q. What were the Virginia and Kentucky Resolutions? K. P.

A. The Virginia and Kentucky Resolutions were sets of resolutions directed against alien and sedition laws and acts passed during John Adams' administration. The resolutions emphasized the rights of the several states.

Q. Can the California big tree be grown in the East? A. T.

A. A tree of this species—sequoia gigantea—is growing in the grounds of Saint Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D. C. It was transplanted from California about 18 years ago, and has attained a height of 15 feet and a trunk diameter between 7 and 8 inches. The diameter of the General Sherman Tree the oldest sequoia is 35 feet and it has attained a height of about 250 feet.

Q. How many knives and forks may be placed at a place? J. W. C.

A. Besides the butter spreader and oyster fork, two knives and three forks may be laid at each cover. If additional silver is required, it is laid when needed.

Q. How deep is the New York Barge Canal? J. J. G.

A. This canal which runs from Buffalo to Albany has an approximate depth of 12 feet.

Q. What was the original forest area of the United States? How much of this area is left? U. S. F.

A. The United States Forest Service states that more than two-fifths of the United States, or about $22,000,000 acres, was forest land originally. The original forest of 220,000,000 acres has been reduced to 138,000,000 acres of virgin forest. 250,000,000 acres of comparatively inferior culled and second growth, and $1,000,000 acres of barren forest land, a total of nearly 470,000,000 acres. Three-fourths of the remaining virgin timber is in the far West.

Q. How is the plural of chassis spelled and pronounced? K. F.

A. The spelling is the same as the singular form. The singular is pronounced shassé and the plural, shasses.

Q. Is the Dardanelles Railway completed? T. G. J.

A. It is still incomplete and progress is retarded by bands of Arab raiders who tear up portions of the track.

Q. Have eggs ever been known to hatch while being shipped? J. L.

A. They have been known to hatch in summer. However, an average of 185 degrees continuously for 21 days would be necessary.

Many Drive To Recital At Idlewild

Prof. and Mrs. Walter Pfitzner gave an interesting program at the Idlewild colony at Idlewild, near Sturgeon Bay on Friday evening. Many Appleton people who had learned of the concert drove to the colony to hear it and there was a large attendance of summer guests from the cottages and hotels. Mrs. Pfitzner will be remembered in Appleton as Miss Ada Saecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Stecker, 659 Lawrence-st.

Mrs. Pfitzner's program included songs by Brahms, Wagner and modern composers, all of which she sang admirably. Her beautiful voice was displayed at its best and she was forced to give many encore numbers. Prof. Pfitzner's playing was characterized by great clarity and beauty of tone as well as by delicacy of interpretation. He played as a special feature of the concert, a group of his own piano compositions which brought forth enthusiastic applause.

Following is the program:

Pavane "In the Festival Hall"..... Johannes Brahms
Allemande "Sunday in Spring in the Old Garden," from Suite in the Old Style, opus 39..... Johannes Brahms
"The Old Fountain in the Park," opus 34, No. 1 fr. Jacobson Suite "La Campanella," Bell Study after Paganini Franz List
Sapphic Ode..... Johannes Brahms
O. Come, Sweet Night of Summer-time..... Johannes Brahms
Nightingale..... Johannes Brahms
The Vain Suit..... Johannes Brahms

Mrs. Pfitzner
Variations on an Original Theme..... Johannes Brahms
Valse gracieuse..... Johannes Brahms
Petite Valse Coquette..... Johannes Brahms
A Spring Torrent..... Johannes Brahms

Prof. Pfitzner
Song of a Young Girl..... Joseph Marx
A Little Bird is Singing..... Joseph Marx
Nature's Holiday..... Richard Hageman
Rhapsody F sharp minor, opus 11..... Richard Hageman
No. 2..... Ernest von Dohnanyi
Polonaise A flat major, opus 53..... Ernest von Dohnanyi
Elsie's Dream from "Lohengrin"..... Richard Wagner
Mrs. Pfitzner

SKILL SHOWN IN EXHIBIT OF HAND WORK IN CHURCH

Splendid Workmanship Revealed By Display Of Vacation School

Handwork of exceptionally fine workmanship which had been done during the summer school course at First Methodist church was exhibited Friday afternoon in the parlors of the church by the pupils and teachers of the school for the benefit of parents and friends. The work exhibited has been done during the four weeks of the school which closed at 12 o'clock Friday noon by the pupils which were from four to twelve years of age.

Students in the manual training classes specialized in building boats of various sizes and kinds. The largest was over three feet long and the smallest only a few inches, and in many cases the minutest detail had been worked out. Other things made were hat-racks and telephone stands.

The sewing classes made luncheon sets and aprons, embroidered and decorated. A few small rag dolls also were made. The classes in stencil work made many original patterns and after they were worked out, stenciled towels, aprons, curtains and other articles.

The display of the work done in the basketry class was exceptionally fine. The articles included vases, sandwich trays, sewing baskets, and fruit baskets and various smaller articles.

The clay modeling class, which included youngsters of various ages, modeled animals mostly and one very fine piece of work was done by one pupil who modeled a zoo. A cover of a large box was used and by means of sand and bits of green a park was fashioned which housed birds and animals made of clay. In the center of the zoo a small pond with ducks and swans was arranged.

The smaller pupils, four to six years of age, made baskets and other articles by weaving colored paper.

At the close of the exhibit Miss Esther Miller awarded prizes to the persons in each class having the best work on display. In sewing the prizes went to Betty Meyer and Ruth Wood; in basketry, Randall Reuss with honorable mention to Marion Hyde, Anita Cast, Merten and Stanley Zahrt clay modeling, Clarence Reuss, honorable mention, Mary Louise Mitchell and Helen Rhoder; Stencil work, Margaret Mead; manual training, Philip Reuss, honorable mention, Dean Morv, James Reuss and Carleton Root.

Mr. and Mrs. August Rehfeldt of Spokane, Wash., are visiting in Appleton.

Still Chance To Get Into Ukelele Club

If the strains of music floating from Appleton Womans club on last Tuesday evening when the ukelele club met for the first time awake in your bosom a desire to become one of the "moonlight musicians," you have a chance yet.

Tuesday evening is registration time for the club and new members will be admitted then. Just take along your "uke" and sign up, and behold you will be able to join the throng of musicians who have attracted so much attention.

Any members of the club who wish to learn a certain song may suggest it to Miss Marie Heineman, who is the instructor. The list of songs which she has to teach the girls includes those which have particularly good harmony and swing for camp use.

PICNICS

Mrs. George Wettengel entertained her Sunday school class at her home at Utawana beach on Wednesday evening and Thursday. The nine boys of the class slept in tents on the beach Thursday evening and spent the following day in the usual beach amusements, including games and swimming.

A Masonic picnic will be held at the DePere driving park in Green Bay on July 28. Masons and their families have been invited to attend and a large number will go from Appleton. The two Elvers Masonic band will furnish music. A baseball game between the Kaukauna lodge and the Roosevelt lodge of DePere has been scheduled.

The outing for pupils of the summer school of First Methodist church took place Saturday afternoon in Pierce park. Stunts and games to furnish amusement during the afternoon were planned by the committee in charge and a picnic supper was served at 4:30. Miss Esther Miller, Miss Florence Terry and Mrs. H. L. Playman were in charge of the picnic.

FOUR POSITIONS OPEN IN STATE DEPARTMENTS

Examinations will be conducted in Appleton Aug. 25 by the Wisconsin civil service commission for state positions as creamery and dairy inspector, state sealer of weights and measures, tariff and rate clerk of the railroad commission and assistant chemist of the dairy and food commission, according to notice received by Postmaster W. H. Zuehlke. Applications may be made direct to the commission at Madison.

BAND GIVES THIRD CONCERT ON TUESDAY

Last Concert Before Going To Camp Will Be Played On Fourth Wards Grounds

The third outdoor concert by the 120th Field Artillery band this season will be played next Tuesday evening at the Fourth ward school grounds. This will be the last concert before the band goes to Camp Douglas on July 30.

Another program of great merit is being prepared for the concert. Large crowds have been attending the outdoor concerts this year and it is believed the school grounds will be packed Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crabb, Mr. and Mrs. George Crabb and daughter Mary Jane and Miss Lillian Brady of DePere were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Crabb of Appleton Junction.

BACK ACHED TERRIBLY

Mrs. Robinson Tells How She Found Relief By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Amarillo, Tex.—"My back was my greatest trouble. It would ache that it would almost kill me and I would have cramps. I suffered in this way about three years; then a lady friend suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had better health since, keep house and am able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends as it has certainly given me great relief."—Mrs. C. B. ROBINSON, 608 N. Lincoln St., Amarillo, Texas.

The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for women. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful times, irregularity, tired and worn-out feelings and nervousness. This is shown again and again by such letters as Mrs. Robinson writes as well as by one woman telling another. These women know what it did for them. It is surely worth your trial.

Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become so ill that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties.

Troubles Were Many When Car Wouldn't Run

Jerome Johnson, 319 Anhalt-st. Menasha, is wishing his automobile hadn't run out of gasoline while he was in Appleton, for he had to pay out $13.40 in municipal court Saturday morning.

His Dodge touring car purchased about ten days ago stalled at the corner of College-ave and Rankin-st two nights ago and he left it standing there while he returned to his home by other means.

The police took charge of the vehicle after it had stood a long time. It had "license applied for" signs, but the police were not satisfied that he had made the necessary application. He was taken into court for driving without a license and Judge A. M. Spencer affixed the above-mentioned fine of $10 and costs. His automobile has been restored to him.

A Correction of Rumors So That The Public Might Know

It has been rumored about for the past few months that "THE CHEVROLET MOTOR CO." would discontinue making their superior 4-90 model car. This is a false and malicious rumor, and we are submitting a reproduction of a personal letter sent to us and to all Chevrolet Dealers by the General Sales Manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

CHEVROLET MOTOR COMPANY

DIVISION OF GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION
GENERAL MOTORS BUILDING
DETROIT, MICH.

PERSONAL July 16, 1923.

ENTIRE CHEVROLET FACTORY SELLING ORGANIZATION INCLUDING DEALERS AND ASSOCIATE DEALERS:

It has come to the writer's attention that some unauthorized or misinformed person or persons are endeavoring to spread rumors throughout the territory to the effect that we will discontinue the production and marketing of our Superior Model on or about August 1st 1923.

This is to advise you that there is absolutely no foundation for such rumors as it is our intention to continue the Superior Model indefinitely, and we expect to build more of them in the future than we have in the past, particularly inasmuch as that product stands second to none on the market and its value is such as to warrant even a considerably larger business than what is now being done.

Our only regret is that our production capacity, which is being pushed to the limit at the present time, and which is in the neighborhood of 40,000 cars per month, is not such as would enable us to give our dealers two to three times as many cars, which we know could be sold.

It is an incomparable product and our suggestion is to extend your efforts and push for more business the same as we are extending our efforts to increase our production, and to the dealer who plans for future business as well as taking care of the present, will come the reward of well earned and very satisfactory profits.

The Chevrolet Copper Cooled Job is a long, long way from ultimate development from a production standpoint; and such jobs can only be brought through in production in very limited quantities. Many little obstacles will have to be overcome before it can be put into production, even in a small way.

Very truly yours,
Signed,
C. CAMPBELL

INVITE FRIENDS TO KAUKAUNA PAGEANT

Preparations For First Homecoming Are Well Underway

Kaukauna—A real effort is being made to assure a successful week in every way during the first annual homecoming pageant scheduled to take place August 27 to Sept. 1. Mrs. Frank Luco has been chosen homecoming secretary and an office has been opened in the municipal administration building. Mrs. Luco is in her office from 9 in the morning until noon and the from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Her biggest task at present will be to secure names of out of town relatives and friends so that they may be invited to attend the celebration. Mrs. Luco has been calling a number of people on the telephone to remind them to send in names and addresses. The story of the pageant is progressing daily. T. W. Stevens of Pittsburg, Pa., author of the pageant, has arrived in Kaukauna and is visiting various places of historic interest and is endeavoring to become thoroughly acquainted with the traditions of the vicinity so that a true pageant will result. Plans for other forms of celebration during the gala week have been announced.

KAUKAUNA PLAYS LYNCHMEN SUNDAY

Stumpfites Figure Winning Streak Will Last Another Game

Kaukauna—Bob Lynch's Green Bay club will furnish opposition for Eddie Stumpf's fighting State league baseball team Sunday afternoon in the new Green Bay ball park. Lynch has had his share of trouble and is finding difficulty in winning enough games to keep near the top in the race, although his team is not far behind the leaders.

On the other hand, the Electric City has hit its winning stride which ought to last one or two games more. Stumpf will present his regular lineup. It is believed that Eddie's ability to hold the team near the top is merely because he is not continually changing players. Next Sunday's game is scheduled at Marinette. The team will go to the northern city Saturday and will play the game which was postponed from Saturday, June 23.

CHAUTAUQUA ENDS SPLENDID PROGRAM

Special to Post-Crescent

Kaukauna—Another day of pleasing chautauqua entertainment passed Friday. Music during the afternoon and evening sessions by the Daystar male quartet formed the most interesting part of the programs, although the lecture by George H. Bradford in the evening entitled "This Way Up" also was interesting.

Saturday, the last day of the chautauqua, was community day. The sessions will be wound up in the evening by a novelty program given by the Royal Holland bell ringers and entertainment by Robert O. Briggs.

A social picnic dinner during the day was preceded by a get-together party with games and sports of all kinds. The children's "show" always is one of the features of the day's program. Preparations for it were made every morning during the week and a number of parents were expected to attend the "show." Entertainment also was provided in the afternoon by the bell ringers and "Smiling Bob" Briggs.

LENA MAN SETTLES FOR ACCIDENT ON HIGHWAY 15

Kaukauna—Louis Ranier of Lena who caused injuries to Frank Kuyzer of Little Chute Sunday evening when he shunted the Kuyzer car into the ditch near DePere, was in Kaukauna Thursday. Ranier, who drove a new Star car, insisted that he did not know he caused the accident when he drove why he did not stop when the Little Chute man's car was overturned. Kuyzer, who was in the Green Bay hospital for three days returned to his home where Ranier visited him with the purpose of making a settlement.

NICHOLS YOUNG WOMEN TAKE TOUR

Nichols — The Misses Nora and Gilda Krull have just returned from a two weeks' tour through the east.

While in Boston, Mass., they attended the convention of the Baptist Young Peoples union of America. The convention opened July 4 with Dr. Conwell's famous lecture "Acres of Diamonds," which has been delivered thousands of times. The money received is used for the education of poor boys. Another famous lecture was "The Religion of King Tut," delivered by the Rev. Bernard Clausen of Syracuse, N. Y.

"The Wonder Tour" consisted of 327 delegates from Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Colorado, Illinois and Wisconsin and was personally conducted by the Rev. C. A. Boyd of Milwaukee. Places of interest visited on the tour were Washington, D. C., Mount Vernon, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Detroit, and Chicago.

The convention next year will be held in Denver, Colo., and another wonder tour is being planned to include a trip through the west.

EQUITY TO CHANGE TIME OF MEETING

Greenville—Changing of the bylaws so as not to make the time of meeting an arbitrary matter will be the principal matter of business at the third quarterly convention of Outagamie County Equity union.

Nichols Wednesday, July 25. The session will open at 10 o'clock in the morning.

The bylaws now require all meetings to start at 10 o'clock in the morning. A proposed change will require the time to be fixed at each meeting for the next subsequent one. This is done so the hour may be convenient to train service and road conditions in the winter months.

CONVERT FAMOUS OLD CHAPEL INTO NEW CLASS ROOMS

"Old" Chapel At Lawrence Passes Out Of College Students' Picture

The progress of any college is hard on the "old grads," who have to have the old haunts of their college days dismantled. To Lawrence students, the fact that the old chapel is being dismantled and made into seven class rooms will be somewhat of a disappointment, because in that assembly room have taken place many of the big events of the college.

Work on tearing down the balcony has been completed and as soon as the timbers for the upper floor arrive, the space will be divided into class rooms. Four large airy rooms will be built on what was the main floor of the assembly while three will be built on the upper floor.

Since the old chapel has been used for student chapel and the smaller meetings only, it was considered a waste of a great deal of space when recitation rooms are needed badly. The addition of the seven rooms will relieve the congestion for the time being. Apportionment of the rooms has not yet been made.

It is the plan of the college to use the Peabody hall of Lawrence Conservatory of Music for most of the college meetings when it is not being used by the conservatory students. This hall is a nice size for small gatherings. It proved itself especially well adapted to debates during the past winter and will be used for such meetings this year.

Class rooms in the main building are being redecorated and put in order for the opening term. Some repairs are made in the dormitories and other buildings.

FARMERS FLOCK TO ANTI-T. B. MEETINGS

Fight Against White Plague Is Carried To Homes Of Breeders

That farmers of the county are greatly interested in the eradication of tuberculosis among cattle is shown by the attendance of breeders at the series of meetings being conducted by R. A. Amundsen, county agent, and Dr. A. J. Knilians of the National Live-stock exchange, Janesville.

Specimens of infected meat showing various stages of the disease, are exhibited by the county agent who gives also a brief talk. Moving pictures are exhibited by Dr. Knilians. Farmers are invited to ask questions. The first meeting was held Tuesday evening in the town hall in Maine and more than one hundred persons were present. The meeting Wednesday evening was held in the opera house at Bear Creek and the one Thursday evening in Fraser auditorium at Nichols. The average attendance of farmers was 100. The meeting Friday evening was held at Seymour and the one Saturday evening will be at Shiloh.

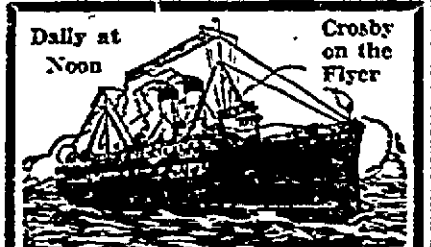

MANY CHANGES IN EVANGELICAL CHURCH

Improvements costing several thousand dollars have just been completed at Emanuel Evangelical church, corner of Franklin and Durkee sts. The work has been in progress for several months and involves changes in almost the entire building.

A large kitchen and dining room has been built in the basement, and the primary room of the Sunday school, which has been more than doubled in size, has been connected with large doors to the dining room so that the two rooms can be used together, providing accommodations for from 225 to 250 diners.

The auditorium and Sunday school room have been redecorated, a new lighting system installed and a vapor heating system placed in operation. New and more adequate toilet facilities have been provided in the basement.

An entrance to the basement has been built on the west side of the building and steps to the entrance to the auditorium on the east side have been rebuilt. Other minor improvements and repairs also were made.

Shortage Of Girls For Housework Due Largely To Exorbitant Demands

Long Hours, Exacting Demands And Small Pay Reasons Why Young Women Shun Employment As Maids

"How do you solve your household help problems?" is the constructive question which every intelligent woman in Appleton is putting up to herself in relation to the shortage of girls who are willing to work in her home. Many of them are asking themselves and their friends "Whose fault is it that girls prefer to work in factories rather than in homes?" These are real questions to the woman with a large family and a large house, where records show that girls remain the shortest time.

The experience of Appleton Woman's club employment agency shows that the greater portion of women inquiring for work prefer to go into factories rather than into homes. The girls say that they do not like housework and prefer to go to the mills or the factories. Those women who have had their names on the waiting lists for weeks know this to be true. The constructive women are beginning to ask: "Why?"

There is no general solution to the problem and there are no efficiency experts in Appleton at least who can go into a woman's home and point out to her why she has trouble with her "help." So many things enter into the problems of household help that it seems useless to discuss it.

PLEASANT SURROUNDINGS
In many homes the surroundings are far more pleasant than in the noisy and sometimes dirty factories. A girl who has to pay for her room and board either to strangers or in full at home would be better off financially to work in another woman's home.

kitchen. Many girls find housework entirely to their liking and would not go into the factory for anything. These girls become experienced in their chosen profession and demand large salaries and are always in demand.

The things about housework that the girls complain of most are long hours during which their work is not equally divided nor always well planned, the necessity for using rear entrances and entertaining their guests in the kitchen, the fact that they are often expected to do more than is humanly possible during a given time and that their evenings are often demanded for the care of children. These grievances are often resented by the women who have trouble with their girls.

DON'T PAY ENOUGH
Girls who have left their positions in homes to go into the factories often tell of the lack of proportion between the amount of work and the wages which women pay their servants. This fact is borne out by the agency cards. Women, who have but one girl, who want that girl an experienced cook who can also do the washing, ironing, mending, cleaning and take care of the children are often the ones who feel that they cannot pay more than $5 a week for such help.

The margin of differences in the amounts paid to girls in housework in Appleton is great, running from as low as $4 a week to as high as $18. There are many $4 a week jobs which are usually unfilled and there are but a comparatively few $18 a week positions for specialized cooks and women who qualify as housekeepers rather than helpers. The best paid house work positions in Appleton are the college fraternity house jobs where the women have to cook for about 20 college boys. The cooks in the college dormitories also are well paid. Few other positions in the city in private homes are as remunerative as these.

Since the girls who apply for work at the club bureau are usually inexperienced in working in the kitchen and in homes, the wages paid to them average about $6. These are general house work positions where if the girl stays for any length of time and is willing to learn she may earn more money. The possibility of advancing in the work has not always been considered by the housewife.

The demand for household help is always large and the supply fluctuates with the demand for work in the factories. Many girls accept household positions when they are unable to find work in the mills.

NEW LONDON MAY AID HOME BUILDER

Contemplate Organizing Building And Loan Association

Believing that development of New London is handicapped because of lack of homes and lack of facilities to enable workmen to obtain homes, a movement has been started in that city to organize a building and loan association. The three banks in the city are said to be interested in the movement and it is probable that definite action will be taken in the near future.

It is almost impossible to find living quarters in New London, it is said. There is not an available house and several families are living in tents. What they will do in cold weather is conjectural.

New impetus to home building in Appleton is to be given by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. which is about to establish its department of loans here. The company grants loans to home builders on first mortgages, up to one half the cost of the property. A representative of the company is in Appleton now to arrange for making the loans. It is said that 70 cities in the Great Lakes states now are being assisted by the company's loan department.

Why Buick is "The Standard of Comparison"

It has been a fixed Buick policy always to anticipate motoring demands by developing new and advanced features of design and construction.

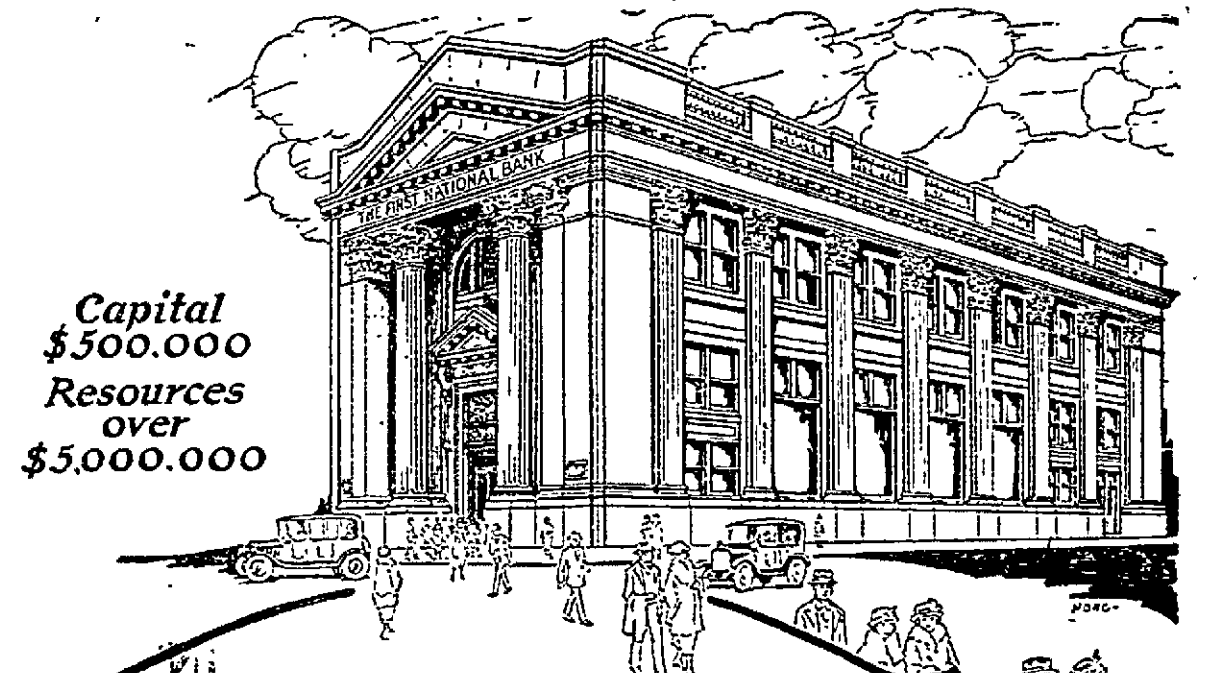

This has been one of the many factors contributing to Buick's great popularity—a popularity tangibly expressed in the fact that Buick is well on its way towards the manufacture of its two-millionth motor car.

Buick recognizes it as a distinct obligation to live up to the spirit and letter of its slogan "When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them".

"But I am dull and stupid still. I have great relapses and sometimes cannot even endure my uncle's voice. Then I shut myself up in my room and chain myself like a savage thing, for a time, till I am patient again."

"You should have distractions."

"There are plenty—even here, though you might not guess it. Giuseppe Doria sings to me and I go out in the launch now and then. I always travel to and fro that way when I have to visit Dartmouth for Uncle Ben and for the household provisions. And I am to have chickens to rear in the spring."

"The Italian—"

"He is a gentleman, Mr. Brendon—a great gentleman, you might say. I do not understand him very well. But I am safe with him. He would do nothing base or small. He confided in me when first I came. He then had a dream to find a rich wife, who would love him and enable him to restore the castle of the Doria in Italy and build up the family again. He is full of romance and has such energy and queer, magnetic power that I can quite believe he will achieve his hopes some day."

"Does he still possess this ambition?"

Jenny was silent for a moment. Her eyes looked out of the window over the restless sea.

"Why not?" she asked.

"He is, I should think, a man that women might fall in love with."

"Oh, yes—he is amazingly handsome and there are fine thoughts in him."

Mark felt disposed to warn her but felt that any counsel from him would be an impertinence. She seemed to read his mind, however.

"I shall never marry again," she said.

"Nobody would dare to ask you to do so—nobody knows all that you have been called to suffer. Not for many a long day yet, I mean," he answered awkwardly.

"You understand," she replied and took his hand impulsively. "There is a great gulf I think fixed between us, Anglo-Saxons and the Latins. Their minds move far more swiftly than ours. They are more hungry to get everything possible out of life. Doria is a child in many ways, but a delightful, poetical child. I think England rather chills him, yet he vows there are no rich women in Italy. He longs for Italy all the same. I expect he will go home again presently. He will leave Uncle Ben in the spring—so he confides to me, but do not whisper it, for my uncle thinks highly of him and would hate to lose him. He can do everything and anticipate our wishes and whims in the most magical way."

"Well, I must not keep you any longer."

"Indeed you are not doing that. I am very glad to see you, Mr. Brendon. You are going to stop for dinner? We always dine in the middle of the day."

"May I?"

"You must. And tea also. Come up to Uncle Bendigo now. I'll leave you up with him for an hour. Then dinner will be ready. Giuseppe always joins us. You won't mind?"

"The last of the Doria! I've probably never shared a meal with such high company."

She led him up the flight of stairs to the old sailor's sanctum.

"Mr. Brendon to see us, Uncle Ben," she said and Mr. Redmayne took his eye from the big telescope.

"A blow's coming," he announced. "Wind's shifted a point to southward. Dirty weather already in the Channel."

They shook hands and Jenny disappeared. Bendigo was pleased to see Brendon, but his interest in his brother had apparently waned. He avoided the subject of Robert Redmayne, though he revealed other matters in his mind which he approached with a directness that rather astonished the detective.

"I'm a rough bird," he said, "but I keep my weather peeper open, and I didn't find it difficult to see, when you were here in the summer, that my fine niece took your fancy. She's the sort, apparently, that makes men lose their balance a bit."

"At this minute I'm in sight of a very vexatious problem, because my right hand Giuseppe Doria—has got his eyes on Jenny and though she's priceless as a single man and she's invaluable as a single woman, the beggar get around her and makes her fall in love with him presently, then they'll be married next year and that's goodbye to both of 'em."

Mark found himself a good deal embarrassed by this confidence.

"I rather thought he was out for money—enough money to reimburse the vanquished glories of his race."

"So he was and, of course, he knows he can't do that with Jenny's twenty thousand; but love casts out a good many things besides fear. It blights ambition—for the time being anyway—and handicaps a man on every side in the race for life. All Doria wants now is Jenny Pendeau, and he'll get her if I'm a judge. I wouldn't mind too much either. If they could stop along with me and go on as we're going, but of course that wouldn't happen."

"I appreciate the confidence and can return a confidence," answered Brendon after a moment's reflection. "I do admire Mrs. Pendeau. She is, of course, amazingly beautiful, and she has a gracious and charming nature. With such distinction of character you may rest assured that nothing will happen yet a while. Your niece will be faithful to her late husband's memory for many a long month, if not forever."

"I believe that," answered Bendigo. "We can mark time, I don't doubt, till the turn of the year or maybe longer. But there it is: they are thrown together every day of their lives and, though Jenny would hide it very carefully from me, and probably from herself also as far as she could, I guess he's going to win out."

A few minutes later a gong sounded from beneath and the two men descended to their meal. It was Giuseppe Doria who did the talking while they ate a substantial dinner. He chattered on and after dinner lighted another of his Tuscan cigars, drank a liquor of some special brandy Mr. Redmayne produced in honor of Brendon, and then left them.

They drank tea at five o'clock and an hour later the detective went on his way. A general invitation had been extended to him and the old sailor expressly declared that it would give him pleasure to receive Mark as a guest at any time. It was a suggestion that tempted Brendon not a little.

The moon had risen as he pursued his lonely road and it shone clear through a gathering scud that threatened soon to overwhelm the silver light. Clouds flew fast and, above Brendon's head, telegraph wires hummed the song of a gathering storm. The man's thoughts proceeded as irregularly as the fitful and shouting wind.

Still deep in thought Brendon tramped on; and then, where the road fell between a high bank to the windward side and a pine wood on the other, experienced one of the greatest surprises that life had yet brought him.

At a gate, which hung parallel with the road and opened into the depth of a copse behind, there stood Robert Redmayne.

He appeared to recognize Mark, or at any rate regard him as an enemy, for instantly he turned, plunged into the woods behind him, and disappeared.

CHAPTER VI
ROBERT REDMAYNE IS HEARD

This sudden apparition bewildered Brendon, for it argued much beyond itself, surely it indicated treachery and falsehood among those he had just left at "Crow's Nest," for it was a coincidence almost inconceivable that on this day of his chance visit, the wanted man should suddenly reappear in the neighborhood of his brother's house. Yet collusion seemed impossible, for Mark had given no notice to Bendigo of his coming.

He swiftly determined that not Jenny, or her Uncle Bendigo, or anybody on earth should prevent him from securing Robert Redmayne on the following day if it came within his power to do so. Indeed he felt little doubt that this would happen. For that night there was no hurry. He slept well after an unusual amount of exercise and emotion, and he rose late. He was dressing at half past eight when there came a chambermaid to the door.

"There's a gentleman must see you this instant moment, please, sir," she said. "He's by the name of Mr. Doria and he comes from Captain Redmayne over at 'Crow's Nest.'"

Not sorry that his day's work might now be simplified, Mark bade the girl summon his visitor, and in two minutes Giuseppe Doria appeared.

"So Robert Redmayne, the murderer of Michael Pendeau, has turned up," asked Brendon, finishing his shaving, and Doria showed astonishment.

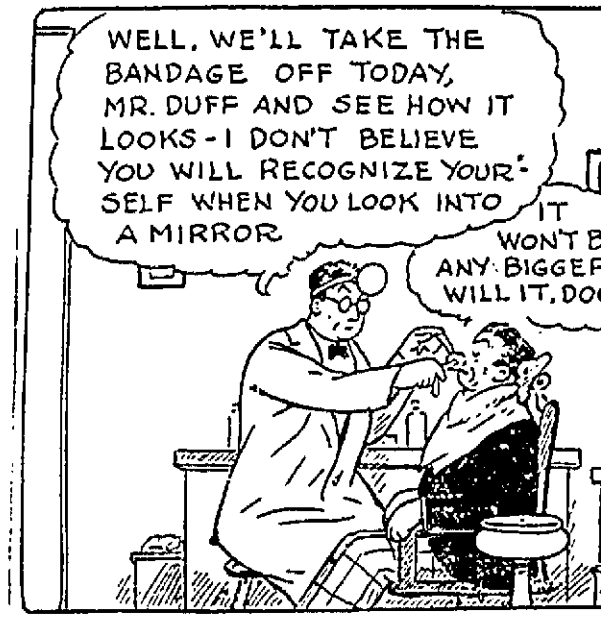

"Corpo di Bacco! How did you know that?" he asked.

"I saw him on my way home," replied Mark. "I had already seen him, before the tragedy on Dartmouth, and I remembered him. What is more, I'm not sure that he didn't remember me."

"We are in fear," continued Doria. "He has not been yet to his brother, but he is near."

"ROWDY" ELLIOT WILL PLAY THIRD BASE SUNDAY

Sylvester's Tribe All Ready For Home Game With Menasha

University Star Has Not Signed
Permanently But Will Be Here
On The Job When Contest
Begins

"Rowdy" Elliot, university football star, Friday notified Harry Sylvester, that he would be here for the Menasha-Appleton game Sunday afternoon. This relieves the Papermakers of the worry they have been undergoing for the past week, and assures Appleton fans of a chance to witness a good game on the home grounds. However, Elliot has not yet signed up for the rest of the season, although he has indicated that he is willing to discuss the matter with the local magnates Saturday when he is planning to arrive.

Since Wenzel's return to the Appleton fold, he has been playing better ball than before his suspension, playing like a veteran in last Sunday's lengthy contest with the northern Twins. If one of Ted Lamer's ancient injuries begins acting up again, Wenzel's presence on the bench will at least give the Sylvester shortstop a chance to take care of it.

Red Smith's game has also improved considerably in his last few appearances, his batting, especially, showing the results of constant practice. Len Smith's fielding continues to draw applause from the fans, and an occasional extra base hit such as he is getting more frequently of late increases his popularity.

Big Bill Lathrop has had the misfortune to lose his last two starts, but more through force of circumstances than through his own fault or defect. He continues to be one of the best pitchers on the McGilligan circuit, and may be depended upon to give the Menasha tribe a hard run Sunday.

Manager "Dutch" Sylvester came out of his temporary shell in Sunday's Marinette contest, poling three safe hits, one of which was for two extra bases. It has been a habit of Sylvester to lay off the heavy hitting for a while every season, coming back later on with his batting eye sharper than ever, and enough kick behind his bat to bust the pill a mile. According to all indications, Dutch has reached this point, and as his lane back has shown great improvement during the past week, he may be expected to strengthen his batting average considerably in the encounter with Menasha.

The game starts promptly at 2.45 Sunday afternoon at Brandt park, and several hundred Menasha fans are expected to accompany their team. The attendance of local fans at the home games has not been as large as it should have been.

HOGRIEVER TO UMPIRE BALL GAME HERE SUNDAY

George Hogriever has been announced as the umpire for the baseball game between Appleton and Menasha here Sunday afternoon. Other umpire assignments, made by T. E. McGilligan, president of the Wisconsin State League, are: Janes at Sheboygan; Reoch at Green Bay; Coffey at Fond du Lac.

INJURY DEVELOPS STAR FOR YANKEES IN FRED HOFFMAN

Accident To Catcher Schang
Gives His Understudy Chance
To Show Stuff

BY BILLY EVANS
If a major league ball club has a star catcher whose work stands out, it is wisdom for the manager of that club to use said catcher almost exclusively.

Good catching means so much to a ball club that a manager is prone to use his star regularly. If he is fortunate enough to have such a type catcher. But it is questionable if such a policy is advisable.

Ray Schalk of the Chicago White Sox is a master workman, one of the greatest of all time. Every manager under whom Schalk has played since coming to the big show has seldom used any other catcher if Ray was fit to go.

As a result of such a policy, the White Sox have developed little or no catching material since Schalk won his spurs as a star. One of these days Schalk is going to pass out of the picture, and when he does, the White Sox are going to suffer for lack of catching.

ONE CATCHER STANDS OUT

On practically every major league club there is some catcher who stands out, who has an edge in most departments of play on the other backstops. Invariably that catcher gets most of the work.

It is only when the star is injured, because of the lack of a capable substitute, that catchers cannot be developed sitting on the bench, getting in the game on every week or so, or warming up pitchers in the bullpen. Very often a team has a high-class catcher doing bench duty who, were it not for the presence of the star catcher, would do his share of the work most efficiently. Often it takes a serious injury to make it apparent that the club has more than a mere substitute sitting on the bench.

Perhaps the most recent example of this truth is found in the lineup of the New York Yankees.

SCHANG'S INJURY COSTLY
In Wally Schang the Yankees boast of one of the best catchers in the majors. So efficient is he, that for years it has been customary to use him almost exclusively back of the bat.

During the first road trip of the Yankees this year they played remarkable ball, winning something like 17 out of 20 on foreign fields. No man helped more than Schang. Immediately on the return of the Yankees to the home grounds Schang was injured. When the injury was known, the Yankees were out for weeks the morale of the club seemed to slump.

No one could take the place of Schang. That was the feeling that seemed to exist, among the pitchers in particular.

Fred Hoffman, Wally's understudy, was forced into the fray with little or no preparation. Incidentally, he had hurt his knee in practice and was none too fit.

HOFFMAN GETS CHANCE

For about two weeks the Yankees played feebly, winning something like four out of 12. For a time it looked as if the absence of Schang would just about ruin the Yankees' pennant chances. Just about the time the experts agreed on such a decision Hoffman hit his stride.

Given a chance to catch regularly he has handled his pitchers in great style. The team, after slumping off a big lead to a four-game margin, has now come back in great style and now enjoys almost a prohibitive lead.

Schang's injury gave Hoffman his chance to prove his worth. Hoffman hit his stride.

While the accident instead of weakening the Yankees, as it first seemed, has really strengthened the club, as Manager Huggins is now positive that he is well fortified back of the bat.

Criqui Shows Up Kearns By Benefit Bout

New York—Eugene Criqui is a real champion.

The little featherweight war hero is going to return to Paris on Aug. 2, to matter what the outcome of his bout with Johnny Dundee, scheduled for the Polo grounds on July 26. He is going back to appear for nothing against the best featherweight in France. The funds derived from admissions to the bout will be used to aid disabled war veterans.

It is quite a novel experience for a prizefighter to do anything for nothing. Jesse Williams, Luis Firpo, Jack McAuliffe and Floyd Johnson recently staged a benefit for the milk fund of New York, and the cash they received would support 1,000,000 babies for a month.

Jack Dempsey only got $720,000 for boxing fifteen rounds with Tommy Gibbons in what his manager, Jack Kearns, called "a good workout for Dempsey." He was to have received $400,000 for the show, and it was only at the last minute that he showed himself "a good sport" and decided to take a chance on his last $100,000.

Dopesters Predict K. O. In Champ Bout

LEW TENDLER

New York—Followers of both Benny Leonard, champion, and Lew Tendler, Philadelphia challenger, predict that their fight next Monday night at the Yankee stadium for the world's lightweight championship title will end in a knockout.

Tendler's southpaw punch, the blow that had Leonard back on his heels in their battle at Boyle's Thirty Acres a year ago, is working to perfection, according to advice from the challenger's training camp at Delanco, N. J. He is confident it will bring him to his long sought goal, the lightweight throne.

Leonard, however, at his quarters in Tannersville, N. Y., believes he has perfected a style of battle calculated to offset Tendler's portside advantage.

BENNY LEONARD

He has trained daily for a month with four left handers.

The champion declared on Friday he was in the best condition of his career and while he expects a stiff fight, expressed confidence in his ability to end it before the limit of fifteen rounds. He will close his training grind on Saturday and return to New York.

Leonard expects to scale a pound under the lightweight limit when he and Tendler weigh in at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Matchmaker Jimmy Johnston of the Crowell A. C. announced on Friday that 30 ushers and 500 special policemen will handle the crowd at the Yankee stadium, which is expected to eclipse all former records for a lightweight title match.

MAYEFSKIS MEET OLD RIVALS SUNDAY

Appleton's Regular Amateur
Team Tries For Comeback
At New London

Mayefski's fast amateur team invades New London Sunday afternoon in an attempt to win back one of the games lost to that tribe earlier in the season. The Appleton team has made the New London team.

Sunday's victory over Stormy Kromer's favorites, and through constant practice during the week, has strengthened its playing considerably. Manager Mayefski has not yet decided who is to pitch against the strong New London clan, but it is probable that either himself or his brother John will occupy the mound, while Ashman will catch.

The team is to meet shortly after lunch Sunday noon as the game is scheduled for 2:45 P. M.

Puzzling Plays By Billy Evans

THE PLAY

What are the rights of the coach? A play came up in a minor league game last summer that brought up the point as to whether the intent of a coach must be given consideration.

With two out and runners on second and third, with the ball in the pitcher's possession while standing on the rubber, the coach at third dashed for the plate yelling "Home." His intent was to draw a throw from the pitcher.

The pitcher stepped off the rubber, intending, perhaps, to throw the ball home, but seeing it was the coach running, made no play.

The umpire declared the runner on third out because of the coach's dash toward the plate, because no play was made. The rule states he must draw the throw to the home base for the runner to be declared out.

If such a play came up in a game in which I was the umpire I would suspend the play and send the coach to the bench or the clubhouse.

The umpire was wrong in ruling the runner on third was out because of the coach's dash toward the plate, because no play was made.

The rule states he must draw the throw to the home base for the runner to be declared out.

It is quite a novel experience for a prizefighter to do anything for nothing. Jesse Williams, Luis Firpo, Jack McAuliffe and Floyd Johnson recently staged a benefit for the milk fund of New York, and the cash they received would support 1,000,000 babies for a month.

Chance Says Baseball Changed Much By Time

Is baseball as played today as skillful and fast as it was 20 years ago? Comparisons between past and present in any branch of sport always make for heated argument.

Baseball is no exception. As a general thing players of the present day resent the opinion that the game is slowing up, that it lacks many of the thrills of other days.

Here are the opinions of some of the leading stars of the present and past. Even the stars of the present day seem to think that the game has slipped back a bit in many respects. "Baseball is more popular today than ever," says Connie Mack, "the attendance figures prove it. There is a decided difference in the style of baseball of today and that of 20 or more years ago. The fans of today are getting the slam-bang variety, which is featured by home runs. By the way they pack the ball parks they seem to like it. I don't think that baseball has gone back as much as it has suffered a change of style. Slam-bang baseball doesn't call for much inside stuff. In that respect the national pastime has deteriorated."

"Baseball seems to have slipped in every department in the last 20 years with the possible exception of hitting," says Frank Chance. "Batting has been on the increase for several years. I do not believe the increase has been due so much to a better grade of batsmen as to the lively ball, in pitching and base-running there has been a decided falling off."

"The style of baseball has changed entirely during my time in the majors," says Rogers Hornsby. "I desire to slug the ball has unquestionably robbed the game of many of its finer points. However, the public likes it and that is all that is necessary."

Kamm Says His Name Is "Bill" And Not 'Willy'

Chicago—"Wille" Kamm is the way the high-priced third sacker of the Chicago White Sox breaks into print. But Kamm desires the world to know that he doesn't look on the name of "Wille" with favor. When he autographs his name on a ball or score card for some ardent admirer it is noticeable the signature is always "Bill" Kamm.

"As a kid it was only natural that I should be called 'Wille,'" explains Kamm. "A fellow handed the name 'William' doesn't object to having his mother call him Wille, but when he grows to be a strong, husky fellow the name Bill or Billy is far more acceptable. The kindest thing the baseball scribes could do for me would be to refer to me as 'Bill,' not 'Wille.'"

COLLINS CLAIMS SHELBY LOST LESS THAN $62,000

By Associated Press
Omaha, Neb.—Miles Collins, St. Paul matchmaker for the Gibbons-Dempsey heavyweight championship fight at Shelby, Mont., on Friday was quoted by the Omaha World Herald as declaring that citizens of Shelby "lost less than $62,000 all told" in connection with promotion of the Gibbons-Dempsey affair.

"Don't let anybody tell you that the Shelby citizens or anybody else lost $100,000 or more," he said.

Collins added that Tommy Gibbons made $22,000 in all from the Shelby battle.

Green Bay starts horseshoe Green Bay—Organization of the Green Bay Horseshoe Pitching association was accomplished at a meeting of the barnyard golf enthusiasts.

About twenty were present at the dinner and meeting, August F. Thomas was elected president, Gustave K. Hays vice president, J. E. Keyes secretary, and T. P. Silverwood treasurer.

Chance Says Baseball Changed Much By Time

Now for the opinion of some of the active participants.

"Baseball has suffered an entire change during the 15 years. I have been connected with the major leagues," says Eddie Collins. "The slugging game does not call for as much concentration and therefore less of the unexpected. Today every batter is up there taking a healthy swing. The batter who waits them out is the exception. Base running on the whole is pretty much a lost art. Playing for one run no longer means with favor. I wouldn't care to say definitely that the standard of play has retrograded, but I do know that it has suffered a complete change."

"Baseball of today does not call for intensive baseball," says Ty Cobb. "Today it is more a question of brawn than brain. One run means so little nowadays that it is foolish to take long chances to turn the trick. Clubs are so accustomed to getting runs in clusters that one run means little in their life. In the old days, many a ball game was decided by a one-run margin, with low scores predominating. Brainy baseball has suffered because of the lively ball and all-absorbing desire to make home runs."

"The style of baseball has changed entirely during my time in the majors," says Rogers Hornsby. "I desire to slug the ball has unquestionably robbed the game of many of its finer points. However, the public likes it and that is all that is necessary."

Factories Play On New Plan Saturday

Combined Locks plays the Fox River Paper company team of the Interfactory league at Brandt park Saturday afternoon. In the first game of the revised factory schedule. The Fox river outfit was the strongest team of the second division in the first half of the season, while the Combined Locks team was one of the two leaders of the first division. While the local team does not expect to walk off with the game in its collective pocket, it does expect to give the Combined Locks aggregation a hard row to hoe.

Kimberly anticipates an easy time of its game with Tuttle press at Kimberly.

The contest between the Coated Paper and Interlake teams at the Interlake grounds is expected to be close and exciting. These two clans have been playing good ball since the beginning of the season, with the Interlake slightly in the lead.

Thilmany and Cellucotton meet on the Neenah grounds for the first time this season. The Cellucottons have only one game on the credit side of their books, but as they have been pitted against the strong teams of the first division, they hadn't much of a chance to lose. Now that they are playing a second division club which is more in their class, they expect to make a much better showing.

About twenty were present at the dinner and meeting, August F. Thomas was elected president, Gustave K. Hays vice president, J. E. Keyes secretary, and T. P. Silverwood treasurer.

BARBEAU IS BACK IN STATE LEAGUE

Former Fond du Lac Manager
Will Play With Green Bay
Against Kaukauna

"Jap" Barbeau, whose fighting proclivities with the Fond du Lac club earned him the name of the "stormy petrel" of the Wisconsin State league is back in the McGilligan wheel according to an announcement made by President T. E. McGilligan Friday.

Jap has been keeping his hand in with the Stevens Point club since his suspension from the State league, and while there played a better game than he ever did for the Red Sox. He will join the Green Bay tribe Sunday in their game with Stumpt's Electrics.

ROD AND REEL

FISHING DURING THE "DOG" DAYS

Part 1
As August is the month during which many of us hanker to hike off to the woods and waters away from the clamorous streets, the canyon of city walls and the heated asphalt of the streets and pavements to the country of the pines and spruces, where the balsam scented winds can be used as a sauce for your food, and a blanket is comfortable in the evening, it is well for us to figure out a stringer-full of fish for the evening meal is concerned.

Unfortunately, during the dog-days of the summer, the game water wanderers of the small lakes and streams seem to be more elusive and blasé than during any other part of the year. They too, have left the shores where they have been since spring, snapping up the daily menu that has been presented to them. In June and even in July the baitcaster who flung his webber, plug or live bait along the fringes of the vegetation on the shores has been rather more lucky than he will be during August if he continues this same racket unless he tears himself from the hay before the sun has warmed up the waters, and even then he may come back to the head camp with nothing on his stringer except Hope.

In August, unless exceptionally rainy and cloudy weather intervenes to break the hot spells, the bet for almost any kind of fish, whether bass, pike, pickerel or musky is trolling through the deeper waters of the lakes and along the shores where the more abrupt depths are met. For instance, in the small bays that jut into the ice side of the shore, where the depth is anywhere from fifteen to thirty feet, there you will find it just to untangle the little old phantasm in your tackle box and troll; or, if you desire, cast as far as possible allowing the minnow to sink well down before you begin the retrieve.

I have frequently used this method of "troll-casting" from an anchored boat in the mouth of the bays and have enjoyed it. For instance, while accuracy of the cast is most important in regular bait-casting, the most important part of "troll-casting" is to get as much line out as possible. A good, heavy steel rod is necessary so that the strain of casting the heavy or unwieldy underwater bait will not strain it. If your live bait or spoon is not heavy enough to go down, tie a six ounce weight a foot or two above the hook or spoon, toss it out as far as you can and sit back in the boat and reel in slowly.

GIANTS WIN GAME FROM CARDINALS, 10-9, BY LATE RALLY

Brooklyn Robins Present Cincinnati Reds With 11, To 4 Victory

By Associated Press
Chicago—The Brooklyn Robins received Cincinnati's Reds with hospitality Friday presenting them with a game, 11 to 4. Caveney, the Red's shortstop, made the only homer.

The Giants beat the Cardinals by a ninth inning rally at the Polo grounds and just slipped out ahead of the Cardinals, 10 to 9. At the beginning of the last half of the ninth the St. Louis team was ahead, 9 to 8, but $175,000 worth of talent in the persons of Messrs. McQuillan and O'Connell got action. O'Connell hit a two bagger and McQuillan a single, both driving in runs.

In Boston, Gooch and Russell smacked out a round trip each with a man on base, but this was not enough to defeat the home team, and Pittsburgh went down, 8 to 5.

Mitchell won a hard fought pitching duel in Philadelphia, defeating Toney Kaufman and the Chicago team, 4 to 0.

The Athletics defeated the Browns in St. Louis, 7 to 6, knocking four pitchers around the lot.

The Red Sox won an uphill game with the White Sox in Chicago, 5 to 4. The Senators used an off day to advantage by playing a previously postponed game with the Indians and cleaning up, 12 to 5. Tris Speaker and Sam Rice hammered out home runs by their defeat, the Indians lost half a game to the idle Tanks.

Harold Traynor's streak of safe hitting in consecutive games was brought to a halt when he faced Genevieve of the Braves. The Pirates' star third baseman had hit safely in 24 consecutive games and faced Genevieve four times but could not connect.

Kenneth Williams who has been out of the lineup because of an injured foot, celebrated his return by cracking out his sixteenth homer of the season.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Another classy set of games are scheduled in the State league for today. Two of the contests have a bit more than ordinary interest. The fans around the circuit will be pulling for Bresnahan's Marinette-Menominee Twins to take a fall out of Billy Leiby's league leading Chair makers while down at Fondy the Red Sox will battle Oshkosh. This is a booster day in Cardinal-town and it is expected that a huge crowd will jam the Reupling ball park.

The Mitchells are back in Milwaukee again and the usual yelp is being put in circulation. Somehow or another every time either one of the Mitchell boys get a lacing, Brother Billy comes to bat with an alibi. The mixup in Chicago with Benny Leonard and the recent affair in New York has sort of left a bad taste in the public's mouth and the best thing Billy Mitchell can do is to keep still whenever one of his charges get licked.

Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler are slated to battle again next Monday night in the Yankee stadium at New York. This pair fought before and each time Tendler has come nearer getting the champion. Maybe this time he will pull the trick. Reports from Gotham have it that Leonard isn't killing himself in training and that he is supremely confident of keeping Tendler at a safe distance.

The umpires' strike in the International league didn't last very long. President O'Toole canned the leader of the revolt outright and put two of his partners on the suspended list. The others who got kicked in the pie are holding their jobs under probation.

LUIS SAYS BRENNAN IS TOUGHER THAN WILLARD

By Associated Press
Boston—Luis Angel Firpo, former Argentine druggist, admitted on Friday that it was all the same to him whether he met Tiger Jack Dempsey in Buenos Aires or somewhere in the United States. Would he rather fight in South America? He was asked.

"It is all the same, whatever Rick," and says is right, is all right for me. "Of course," added Luis hastily, "nothing has been done as yet, no arrangements have been completed. At a luncheon at which Firpo was entertained by sporting writers, he declared that Brennan gave him a much harder fight than Willard."

"What does he do to keep in condition?" "Oh, he just goes through a few simple exercises in the morning," Firpo's manager said. "Yesterday," he added, "the physician of the state boxing commission who examined him, told him that he had a heart like a lion."

CHARGE ANOTHER LOSS TO TASTE FOR STRONG DRINK

We Could Have Cheap Motor Fuel If We Wouldn't Drink It

Man's submission to the lure of John Barleycorn is preventing him from taking advantage of one of the most saving opportunities he will ever meet as a motorist.

That is the chance for practically every motorist to make his own fuel at a ridiculously low cost.

The motor fuel is alcohol, said to be far better than gasoline as a power source, but prohibited from sale or use for any purpose, except medical, in the United States.

If every man were a tee-totaler! And the government were certain of his remaining such!

EXCEPT FOR A FEW TRIFLES, Y. M. C. A. BOYS HAD BIG TIME

Bean Can Explosion, Hard Ground And Empty Gas Tanks Incidents On Trip

Aside from the explosion of a can of beans, the truck running out of gasoline and an almost total lack of sleep, the 12 boys from the Y. M. C. A. boys department who spent the night at High Cliff had a pleasant but uneventful trip. They left the Y. M. C. A. after 6 o'clock Friday evening bound for Clifton on the boy scout truck and returned at 8:30 Saturday morning, their arrival having been somewhat retarded by the empty state of the gasoline tank. C. E. Lease accompanied the boys.

Mystery surrounded the can of beans until it and the mysterious explosion were solved. Since the beans were cooked, the can was found on the shelves of the Y. M. C. A. without a wrapper on it to indicate its contents. It was thought to contain beans, but by shaking it the boys came to the conclusion that it might be molasses. The fire test revealed the truth but added little to the minds of the party. The explosion left a trail of beans on the beach, but the can shot into the lake.

Some of the boys took their first overnight trip and found the ground too hard upon which to sleep. Since they could not sleep, the slumbers of the others were necessarily disturbed. Only one pup tent was in the use for which it was intended. Most of the lads used theirs to sleep upon.

The gasoline incident happened right near home, so to speak. It was within the city limits of Appleton but not nearer than a half mile up hill to go when it reached South River-st., north of South Division-st. The boys got out and pushed the truck uphill and let it coast down. At the tremendous expense of one gallon of gasoline, the trip was regarded as enough to make the trip up Pearl-st. hill, which the youthful "truck pushers" found a little too steep for their efforts.

The boys in the party included El. H. Sharp, Raymond Karweick, Melvin Leopold, Robert Neller, Robert Ziegler, Lawrence Oosterhaus, Robert Mueller, Harold Ferron, Willard Ferron, Randall Reuss and Donald Walter. Similar trips will be made each week for the boys. Some hikes will be planned, but there will be other "truck trips."

ELECTRAGISTS COMING TO APPLETON BY BOAT

Fifty members of the Wisconsin State Association of Electragists were expected here at noon Saturday for luncheon at Conway hotel. They are holding a state convention at Oshkosh and planned to come to Appleton aboard an excursion boat. They had luncheon here and return. They had not arrived up to 1 o'clock but all preparations had been made for their arrival.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Bartholf, who have been visiting Appleton friends for some time, left for their home in Los Angeles, Calif. Saturday.

Edward and Clarence Metz, members of the well known Metz brothers orchestra, which has been playing in the west, are spending a month's vacation in Appleton. They had been making their headquarters in Spokane, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Nic Behrend and children and Mrs. John B. Heim and daughter Marie of Madison, are guests of the family of Gustave Keller, 322 Eighth-st.

Miss Mary O'Leary has returned from a several days' visit at Madison.

Miss Carmen Laurisch has returned to Milwaukee after a three weeks' visit at her home in Appleton. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Elmae Laurisch, who will be her guest for the next few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Adrian, who have been guests in the family of Richard Miller for the last three weeks, have returned to their home at Niagara Falls.

The condition of Michael Garvey, former chief of police of Appleton, who submitted to an operation at Mercy hospital at Chicago several days ago, is very favorable.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory R. Rusch, John Rusch and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Merkel left Friday on a week's automobile trip to Milwaukee and Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Lonsdorf and son, John, Jr., have gone to Iron Mountain, Mich., where they will be guests of relatives for a week.

Mrs. W. F. Saecker and Prof. and Mrs. Walter Pittman and children of Aberdeen, S. D., left Friday for the Saecker cottage at Three Lakes, where they will remain until Sept. 1. Mrs. Nic Storm has come to Marshfield to attend the funeral of William Leschonsky, who was killed in action in France during the war, and whose body arrived here Friday.

The Misses Rena Courtney and Hazel Montgomery left Saturday for Tomahawk Lake on a two weeks' camping trip.

Insurance Men Meet

George R. Westwood and Fred Falk Westwood and John Trautman will go to Milwaukee on Monday to attend the annual meeting of the Northwestern Life Insurance society at the hotel office. This is the sixty-fifth anniversary of the company itself and the forty-seventh annual meeting of the association of agents. The sessions will continue from July 22 through July 25.

TRUCK BACKS INTO WINDOWS OF STORE

The plate glass front of the Jensen confectionery store at Bear Creek, valued at $420, was shattered Friday afternoon when a Reo truck owned by Wolf Valley Dairy Co., New London, and driven by Mr. Favell backed into it.

The driver had backed up to the curb and loaded on an ice cream tub. He was about to start away when the reverse gear became engaged accidentally and the machine went over the curbing and through the window front before it could be stopped. The loss is covered by insurance carried by the truck owner.

ON THE SCREEN

NEW PHOTOPLAY IS VIOLA DANA'S BEST

"Her Fatal Millions," Viola Dana's newest Metro starring vehicle, and one of the most charming and amusing photoplays of the year is at the Elite Theatre today. Miss Dana calls it the best picture she has ever made and that statement has aroused highest deliriums of anticipation among the followers of this tiny, vicious comedy.

And this photoplay can well be awaited with keen interest because according to advance reports, it is the highest type of wholesome, rollicking comedy, spiced with dramatic thrills and surprises. Little Miss Dana romps through the closely knitted story in her most vigorous and fascinating manner. The role is her greatest triumph in delicious, high-powered, rapid-fire comedy drama. Her role in "Her Fatal Millions" gives Miss Dana opportunity to display her versatile talents.

EAST AND WEST COMBINED IN NEAL HART FILM

Neal Hart's standing as the supreme star of the out-of-doors is well maintained in his latest picture "Danger Valley."

This is not a problem play, not a triangle story and not of the lunge lard or society drama type although it does bring this western actor into an eastern atmosphere for a few scenes at the opening of the story.

AN OUTDOORS STORY

"Danger Valley" is truly an outdoors story, a man's type of story. Rich in narrative and adventure, it satisfies the universal and age old human craving for fiction simply and effectively told. There is nothing in "Danger Valley" to incur the displeasure of the censor, but there is plenty to get you gripping the arms of your seat and holding your breath to know what happens next. The locale is the great American desert, and the picture was obtained by a trip to Death Valley, Calif. It is showing at the Elite Sunday, only.

Attorney L. Hugo Keller was at Rhineland Saturday on business.

CAMP CLEGHORN ASSEMBLY OPENS MONDAY MORNING

Appleton People Have Prominent Parts On Presbyterian Program

The seventy-second annual synod of the Presbyterian churches of Wisconsin will meet at Camp Clegghorn on Lake Columbia Monday July 23. The sessions will continue through the week. The Women's Presbyterian society will hold its meeting at the same time in a pavilion adjoining the camp.

Dr. W. A. Ganfield, president of Carroll college will preach the opening sermon. Other speakers will be Dr. J. H. Snowden of Pittsburg, and the Rev. H. McRobinson of Philadelphia.

Beginning August 3 and continuing until August 13 the annual assembly at Camp Clegghorn will be conducted. In addition to classes and devotional periods special attention will be given to outdoor sports and evening entertainments. Among the persons who will entertain at camp this year are Mrs. John Engel, Appleton; reader, Miss Lillian Sindahl, Neenah; soprano, the Jack Lyons players composed of Miss Catherine Cordell, Freiburger and Miss Carolyn Osterreich, two former students at Lawrence Conservatory of Music; Mrs. Pearl Steese Vincent, Chippewa Falls; pianist; Miss Edna Ruff, Marinette; whistler, also formerly of Lawrence Conservatory.

F. H. Jeebe and the Jeebe orchestra of Appleton, will be at Camp Clegghorn during the entire assembly and will furnish music at a number of the meetings.

DEATHS

MRS. GUSTAVE SCHINKE

Mrs. Gustave Schinke, 35, died Friday afternoon. She is survived by her widower; parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Rosenberg; brothers, Ervin, Robert, Alfred, Edward, Harvey Rosenberg; sisters, Lydia and Flora Rosenberg; Mrs. Olga Timm, all of Shawano. The funeral will be held at 12:30 Monday afternoon from the home of Herman Schinke, 575 Cherry-st., and at 1 o'clock from Mount Olive church. The body will be conveyed to Shawano for burial.

BIRTHS

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas at Escanaba, Mich., on Friday.

Henry J. Pettigrew left Saturday for Oconto, where he will spend the weekend with his children, who are visiting their grandparents.

C. E. WILL HONOR FOUNDER'S MEMORY

Service Will Be Held Sunday At Grave Of The Late Rev. J. D. Willard

Annual memorial services for the late Rev. J. D. Willard will be held at Riverside cemetery at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon by the Christian Endeavor society of the First Congregational church. Members are to be at the church by 3:45, and will go from there to the cemetery. All alumni members of the society have been invited.

The Rev. J. D. Willard founded the local Christian Endeavor society in 1880 while pastor of the Congregational church here. He worked ardently for its upbuilding until his death in 1885.

It has been an annual custom since that time to hold a memorial service at the cemetery on the Sunday nearest July 24, the day of his death.

E. E. Dunn, an alumnus of the society, will be leader of the services at the grave and will give a talk on some phase of Christian life. Names of all deceased members of the local C. E. society, about 150 in all, are read as part of the service, and one flower is dropped on the Willard grave for each name read.

This service takes the place of the regular Sunday evening meetings.

ROTARY AND LIONS IN ATHLETIC MEETS

Lions and Rotarians will engage in their annual field and track meet at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in Pierce park. Last year the Rotarians won the meet by a single point and have a cup as a trophy.

Lions will hold their weekly meeting at Alicia park on Monday to prepare for the meet.

On Monday afternoon, July 30, Lions and Rotarians will hold a shooting tournament at Appleton Angling and Shooting club park. Guns and ammunition will be obtainable on the grounds. Both clubs will have strong teams in the shoot.

Edward P. Humphrey, former managing editor of the Appleton Post, has begun a journey to Appleton from his home at Los Angeles, Calif., according to word received by Postmaster W. H. Zuehlke, and will arrive here in about three weeks with Mrs. Humphrey. They are stopping at Portland, Ore., enroute.

Cop Radiates Courtesy For City Of Neenah

Neenah's police force has one patrolman who is winning a reputation in the Fox river valley for his courtesy. He is Harold Nooyen, a young officer whom many encounter in visiting this city.

An Appleton businessman tells of a woman alighting from a train, carrying two heavy grips and with a small child at her side. The patrolman stopped the woman as she approached him, took the two grips and carried them for her to the end of his beat. She thanked him for his kindness.

The same Appleton man entered an arterial highway in Neenah from the opposite side from what he customarily does, and forgot to stop. Patrolman Nooyen stopped him and informed him that he had overlooked the highway sign. The man admitted this fact and gave his explanation.

"I thought you overlooked it," said the officer. "Try to remember next time."

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lutz and Mr. and Mrs. George Loos left Saturday for Fox Lake, where they will camp for the next few days.

John Burkhorst, who recently purchased a home in the First ward, has gone to Chicago to get his family.

FLAGS ON CITY HALL HUNG RIGHT, H. L. POST SAYS

Chairman Of Decorations Committee Gives Rule For Displaying Banner

Anxiety of city officials over the proper method of displaying the flags used to decorate the city hall for the reception for General Gouraud on Tuesday is productive of some good. The anxiety of R. M. Connelly, city engineer, over the hanging of the flags, as quoted in The Post-Crescent on Thursday, prompted H. L. Post, chairman of the committee in charge of decorations, to write a letter in which he sets forth the rule governing hanging of flags in circumstances similar to those at the city hall. Mr. Post's letter to The Post-Crescent follows:

"I have before me your article in the Thursday paper explaining the anxiety of the city hall officials, and particularly Mr. Connelly, the city engineer, about the hanging of the flags on the city hall for the reception of General Gouraud.

"Mr. Connelly is afraid the citizens will censor him for not having the flags hung correctly.

"The city officials, it seems, are unduly alarmed, as in every case the flags were hung correctly, although with great difficulty, due to the interference of Mr. Connelly and others.

"If it were not for the great amount of extra work and aggravation to those in charge of decorating for these public affairs, this argument about the hanging of the flag would be a comedy, but the publication of Mr. Connelly's requested interview gives me the chance to explain.

Both at the Fourth of July celebration and the celebration for General Gouraud, well-meaning but misinformed citizens, were continually interfering with the work of decorating the streets, ordering decorations changed, and making life miserable for those who were placing the flags.

"Decorations would be placed, and the above citizens would order them down and changed, or telephone those in charge of hanging the decorations, until, at the present time, the problem is not so much one of hanging or planning the decorations, as it is to keep them out of reach of those whose ideas differ from the rule of the flag.

"I have before me the 'American Legion Weekly' of July 5, 1923, from which I quote, 'On Flag day, June 14, representatives of sixty-eight organizations met in Washington for a conference called by and conducted under the auspices of the American legion, to draft an authentic code of flag etiquette. The code drafted by that conference is presented on this and the following pages, together with diagrams illustrating the rules. While the rules adopted by the conference have no government sanction, nevertheless, they represent the authoritative opinion of the principal patriotic body of the United States, and of army and navy experts, and are binding on all the organizations which took part in the gathering. The conference constituted itself a permanent body so that a modification in the rules can be made if this proves desirable. American legion posts will find the rules and diagrams worth calling to the notice of the schools and citizens generally.

"Rule No. 3 'When the flag of the United States is displayed in a manner other than by being flown from a staff, it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost, and to the flag's own right; i. e. to the observer's left.

"That means whether the flag is hung horizontally or vertically, the stars in the blue field, as you face the flag, should be in the left-hand upper corner.

"This was the way the flags were hung on the City Hall, and if General Gouraud, or the visiting United States army officers glanced at the flag, they found them absolutely correct.

"I would suggest that the Post-Crescent print some diagrams showing the rules of the flag so that the citizens of Appleton can become familiar with the correct procedure, and we will not have this 'hit-or-miss' method of decorating when the occasion presents itself.

"This letter is written with the friendliest feeling toward Mr. Connelly, and those who have been concerned about the city hall decoration, and is written only as a record of information for them and for others.

Yours very truly,
H. L. Post"

Calumet Silver Foxes, Fed Like Babies, Sell For Fabulous Prices

W. F. WINSEY

When a stranger approaches the Calumet Fox Ranch at Sherwood, 252 pairs of piercing eyes fasten on him from all angles in the open, from the cover of high weeds and from kennels, and they hold him in curiosity and suspicion from the time of appearance to withdrawal. As the stranger draws near to the ranch the interest and excitement of the animals increase which is shown by a general scurrying about of the foxes to gain better points of observation and concealment than the ones abandoned. This movement and readjustment is repeated again and again as if in response to a command. And if the stranger exhibits the audacity to enter and to parade through a street of the fox city or to cross the threshold of a fox home, his action is challenged and condemned with a chorus of raucous barking similar to what might be made by sacks of curs. The movement of the foxes in the home violated can be traced by the disturbance of the weeds which grow in profusion or of course by the animals shooting across openings. With all the darting and scurrying about and hiding in the weeds and covered runways, the stranger is kept in eyeshot by the foxes and, during a lull, he can see eyeballs glaring from as many points of concealment as there are foxes in the home. Every time the visitor stirs, in the adjoining pens, breaks out again the barking and is conclusive evidence that he is trespassing on forbidden ground and his absence is more desired than his company in the community. The fox colony is not disturbed by the coming and going of acquaintances.

THEY WON'T POSE

The writer with H. F. Kelley, ranchman, as conductor, passed through a street of the fox city a few days ago and into the private domain of several fox families for the purpose of getting acquainted and taking snap shots of certain Mr. and Mrs. Foxes and the younger members of their families at short range. It was soon discovered, however, that taking a group picture was an impossibility and that no member of any fox family would pose for a second during the intrusion with any other part of his make-up exposed except his gleaming eyes.

In this dilemma, Mr. Kelley, drove a certain Mr. Fox into his house, raised the roof, caught him by the tail, then by the hind legs, pulled him up over the eaves to which the fox clung in desperation with his fore paws, slid his free hand down Mr. Fox's back, seized him quickly and firmly by the back of the neck, lifted him and held him clear till the kodak did its work. A couple of the younger members of the family were urged in the same manner to pose for their pictures. Meanwhile, the barking of witnesses of the outrage from house-tops and other eminence was universal, defiant and vigorous. As the door of the pen was completely undermined with burrows, it was difficult to move about without breaking through and dropping down to China.

On hot days in summer, the foxes occupy these burrows or other available cover of any description but in the cool of the evening they become active and are continually on the move. In winter they prefer the surface, and sleep in the day time but are very active at night.

BRING HIGH PRICES

In the Calumet Fox Ranch there are now 131 adult foxes and 100 pups. The pups and surplus adults of this ranch are sold only for breeding purposes. The pups bring $1,500 a pair and the adults from $2,000 to $2,500. Each pair produces annually about April a litter ranging from 4 to 7 pups. The pups are ready for delivery in September or October.

Each fox has a name and a number and a registry card showing his breeding, age and owners, issued by the National Silver Fox Association of America. The methods used in the registration of foxes are identical with those used by breeders of purebred cattle. The issue of a wild fox does not qualify for a registration before the third or fourth generation.

Fox pups and adults have to be treated often for fleas, worms and some times for distemper. When treatment is necessary, the patient is captured and secured in the same manner that Mr. Kelley captured the foxes for picture-taking purposes, the difference being that the patient is turned over on its back for administering capsules and it is permitted to grab a specimen with its jaws. As long as the fox is held, it clings with all the power of its jaws to the speculum. The capsule is worked through the opening in the speculum to the throat of the fox and pressed backward till it is swallowed.

MUST BE CAREFUL

In the case of fleas, the fox is dipped or powder is worked into its coat. It takes an experienced man to handle a fox without giving it a chance to try its teeth and the clamping strength of its jaws.

Formerly the feed of a fox in captivity was horses and cattle that had died of disease or old age or any kind of carrion that was not too far gone to be salvaged. The carcasses were ground, bones and all, into a kind of sausage that exerted a repelling force on life in a circle of extended radius. This feed was thrown down to the foxes raw.

The result of such feeding was the ruin of the kidneys, the stomach and other organs of the foxes as well as the pelts. Foxes now are fed whole, some, balanced rations of great variety, selected and prepared by a dietist of intelligence, training and experience.

Thus the fox puppy instead of being offered a wad of ground carrion now is given a dish of bread and milk for his breakfast, and possibly an egg for its supper. After eight weeks, cereals well cooked and meat well cooked are added to the puppy's diet. His mother during the gestation period is fed beef, beef heart, a little liver twice a week and fish twice a week—all well cooked. Fourteen to sixteen ounces of beef are the daily ration of the adult fox. Variety of feed is the rule.

The mother's feed while nursing is bread and milk and one egg in the morning and at night whole wheat flour, rolled oats or rice well cooked and served with milk.

The regular night feed for adult foxes at the Calumet Fox ranch, prepared by Mr. Kelley, is ground beef boiled an hour. After the cooking, wheat flour, rolled oats and broken rice are added and the mixture is boiled another hour. Finally fox biscuits are added and the mixture is boiled again, this time a half hour. Then the mixture is moved to a drain table where as it drains and cools, it forms into a large cake. The morning feed consists of well cooked cereals with milk, or bread and milk.
